Russia Says Shut Up

—By Arthur Brisbane—

THE General Electric Company has perfected a device to transport electric power over longer distances at less expense. The innovation, called a "thyratro," is described as a modified vacuum tube, adapted to power transmission uses.

Some day science will "hook up" earth's great natural power plants, Niagara, Rocky Mountain streams, the Columbia river, the Bay of Fundy, the Severn, Brazil, and other great stations in Africa and all over the world, as radio stations are now hooked up.

And then will come wireless transmission of power, and airplanes will "pick up power" at various points on their journeys, instead of carrying tons of fuel.

Research work done by such institutions as General Electric, United States Steel, Westinghouse, Standard Oil, etc., will return to the public in increased prosperity, a hundred dollars for every one taken in.

A "big business man," Mr. Murphy, elected to Congress from New York, says he doesn't know any big business man that doesn't drink. He, himself, drinks.

A committee of New York's big Republican Club, including the president of Columbia College, demands a vote on prohibition. They say in substance, "We all drink, why not say so, like men?"

When you have a law and a constitutional amendment openly flouted by 90 per cent of powerful men in the country, there is something wrong with the law, or something wrong with the powerful men.

This country is traveling rapidly on the road that leads to thoroughly organized crime and complete contempt for law.

A United States grand jury reports that officials supposed to suppress the sale of drugs, are organized on a "racket" basis, misrepresenting their activities to get more money from the government.

Some of them are alleged to be narcotic addicts. The charge is made that the big men in the business can "buy their way out," if they get in trouble.

In seven months past, criminals and others have purchased three times as many pistols as were sold altogether in the 12 months of 1928. A big demand for killing machinery.

The American Jewish congress yesterday joined with the Pope, British bishops of the Anglican church and others demanding that Russia cease persecuting religion.

The United States government is requested to take a hand and tell Russia what to do.

The last time we told Russia what to do, in connection with events in China, Russia told us to mind our business. And apparently we did.

Russia, in this case, would remind us that we have no official religion in the United States and while it pleases us to tolerate all religions, it is no concern of ours what Russia does about her religions.

Wall Street was not so cheerful yesterday, with a "reactionary tendency" toward the close.

One expert says "prices are coming back to peak." Pray for it, if you like, but don't bet on it.

Another expert says that in nine years, from the end of 1920 to the end of 1929, stocks were going up 66 per cent of the time, and going down 34 per cent.

The difficulty is to pick out the time when they are going up.

A wise plan is to find out what property a stock represents, what the property is worth, and how many shares are issued.

One ingeniously arranged promotion scheme issued more than sixty million shares. If you bought one share you owned less than one sixty-millionth part of the combination. That's watered stock.

Germany continues airplane development, with the government interesting itself in flying, in spite of restrictions created by the Versailles treaty.

Captain Boykow produces an "automatic pilot," enabling the human pilot to leave his seat for half an hour at a time. In foggy or stormy weather when regular air traffic is stopped, the automatic pilot drives its plane in a straight line, or in curves, as desired, with great accuracy.

Postmaster-General Brown, who has done a great deal to encourage American aviation, will be interested in that news.

Fog has been the great danger for our air mail and commercial pilots.

6 WOMEN SEE ANOTHER DIE ON GALLOWS

Mrs. Eva Dugan Meets Her Death in Arizona With Smiles and Kisses

Florence, Ariz., Feb. 21 (AP)—Mrs. Eva Dugan, the first woman to be legally executed in Arizona, paid with her life on the gallows today for the slaying in 1927 of A. J. Mathis, Tucson rancher. The trap was sprung at 5:11 a. m., just before sunrise.

As the trap clanged and she dropped more than six feet the noose tightened, severing her head, and the body catapulted to the floor. Dr. L. A. Love, prison physician, pronounced her dead immediately.

Warden Lorenzo Wright immediately cleared the gallows room and turned the body over to the prison physician and an undertaker. Six women witnessed the execution.

Mrs. Dugan, unshaken, calmly climbed the 13 steps to the gallows

Operate Again on Fr. Gasson Today

Montreal, Feb. 21—Attaches of the Hotel Dieu Hospital here announced that the Rev. Thomas I. Gasson, S. J., president of Boston College from 1907 to 1914, would undergo a second operation for an intestinal disorder, at the institution sometime today.

Fr. Gasson contracted pulmonary congestion after a first operation last Friday. His condition was reported to be critical all the week, but he regained his strength sufficiently so that the second operation will be permitted.

Chautemps Cabinet Is Almost Complete

Paris, Feb. 21 (AP)—Camille Chautemps, seeking to form a new French Government, said at 4:40 p. m. today that his Cabinet was virtually constituted, except for some possible minor changes, and the official list would be communicated later in the day. Chautemps and his colleagues are expected to call on President Doumergue at 6 p. m.

Granfield Puts in Bill for Veterans

Washington, Feb. 21 (AP)—Rep. Granfield, Democrat, Massachusetts, who took his seat in the House Monday, introduced his first bill today, which would authorize the expenditure of $250,000 for an addition to the Veterans' Hospital at Northampton, Mass.

Call Taft Family to Bedside

Washington, Feb. 21 (AP)—Failure of William Howard Taft to gain ground during the last week, today prompted those at his bedside to summon members of the family who are out of the city.

While there was nothing to indicate his condition had taken a sudden turn for the worse, it was said those caring for the former president and chief justice felt some apprehension over a lack of improvement.

Today's noon bulletin said he was "just about the same" and made no further comment.

Rubio Assassination Suspect Held in U. S.

Mexico City, Feb. 21 (AP)—A La Pensa dispatch from San Luis Potosi today said Nicolas Alcorta, former student there, who is sought in connection with the investigation into the shooting of President Ortiz Rubio, has been arrested in St. Louis.

Alcorta is alleged to have sent a letter to a friend in San Luis Potosi congratulating him on the attempt against the President's life and saying plans were virtually complete for a similar attack on President Hoover.

Al Smith Believes in "Plain English"

New York, Feb. 21 (AP)—Alfred E. Smith believes the way to gain a person's confidence is through use of plain English. Addressing a convention of the trust company division of the American Bankers' Association, he deplored the habit of talking "over the head of the man in the street."

"The clearer you make it," he told the bankers, "the better he thinks you understand it yourself."

Queen, Seeing Jungle Film, Fears for Wales

London, Feb. 21 (AP)—Queen Mary today paid one of her rare visits to the movies to see a film depicting African wild life similar to that being encountered by the Prince of Wales.

She enjoyed the performance but her enjoyment was mitigated by anxiety as she said later: "I am very nervous at the thought of the Prince of Wales being near so many dangerous beasts."

Mellon Raps Bill to Bar Poison Alcohol

Washington, Feb. 21 (INS)—Andrew W. Mellon assailed the Sirovich bill compelling the government to discontinue the use of poison in denaturing alcohol, in a letter to Representative Hawley (R.), Oregon, chairman of the ways and means committee.

Mellon declared the bill is impracticable and said it would deprive legitimate industry of needed alcohol.

College Secretary Dies at Dartmouth

Hanover, N. H., Feb. 21 (AP)—Eugene Clark, secretary of Dartmouth College, died today after a two weeks' battle with pneumonia.

Prof. Clark was believed to be on the road to recovery, but heart failure, due to his weakened condition, caused his death, at the college infirmary.

Mrs. Willebrandt Fined as Speeder

Washington, Feb. 21 (INS)—Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, for some years the nemesis of prohibition violators, paid a $10 fine in traffic court today for speeding.

A traffic officer testified that he clocked her car at 38 miles an hour.

MAN IS SLASHED IN GARMENT STRIKE ROW

Police Reserves Are Called to Kneeland St. After a Clash in Dress Company Plant

One man was slashed and several others were mauled in a strike disturbance in the workrooms of the Imperial Dress Co., Inc., today. Police reserves were called.

According to police, Robert Trehaub, 35, of Jones ave., Dorchester, a loyal employe of the company, was slashed across the neck with a pair of garment shears. In the melee, which lasted ten minutes, several other loyal workers were beaten.

An emergency call was responded by reserves from Lagrange st. station but when they arrived the disturbers were gone.

According to the police, 20 striking garment workers, men and women, entered the rear door of the building at 75 Kneeland st. and went to the sixth floor workroom of the dress company, where 16 men and girls were at work. The clash occurred shortly after the entrance of the alleged strikers, who are said to have tried to induce the loyal workers to join the strike.

TWO GIRLS LED OUT

Later police found in the building two girls who could not give a satisfactory reason for their presence there and escorted them to Lagrange st. station. They were later released.

Meantime, Trehaub was treated at the shop by a physician.

While this disturbance was under

Grindstone Bursts; Youth Is Injured

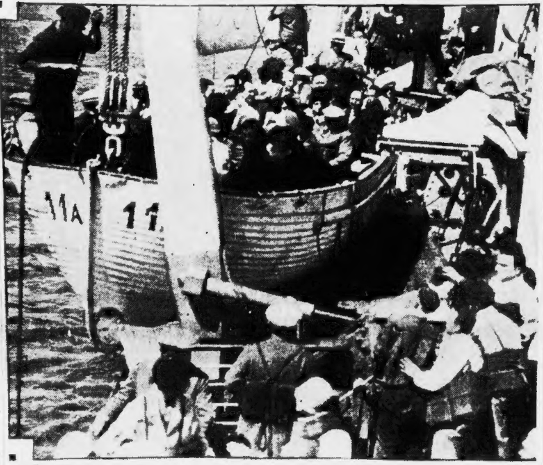
Monson, Feb. 21 (AP)—Andrew Plato, 18, was critically injured today when his head was cut open by a piece of a grindstone which broke apart while being used.

To sharpen an axe Plato and a companion had placed the grindstone on the shaft of a power circular saw. The speed given the stone caused it to burst.

Hamaguchi Leads in Japs' Election

Tokyo, Feb. 21 (AP)—Early returns from the election today gave the Minseito party of Premier Hamaguchi 42 seats in the House of Representatives, as against 20 for the Seiyukia party, one for the proletarian group and five for the independents.

How 1100 Were Saved From Ship



As hundreds of lives hung in the balance on the doomed steamer Cervantes off the coast of Terra del Fuego, the camera snapped this scene while terrified passengers and crew filled lifeboat 11A and it was lowered to the water. Eleven hundred passengers were saved with all the crew except the captain, who went down with his ship when it crashed on the rocks. A Spanish passenger calmed the passengers by setting up his camera. (International Newsreel photo.)

Actress and Man Slain by Husband

Los Angeles, Feb. 21 (AP)—Mrs. Vera M. Gingell, 36, an actress, and Sigurd Bjorne, a musician, were shot and killed early today in a downtown apartment house by Agusutus Gingell, 38, Glendale, Cal. merchant and estranged husband of the woman.

Gingell walked from the apartment and surrendered to police.

Early today, police said, Gingell entered the apartment with a pass key and fired five shots, killing both his wife and Bjorne instantly.

Threaten to Blow Lid Off Dry Law Chiefs

Washington, Feb. 21 (INS)—With Senate drys threatening to "blow the lid off" the federal prohibition enforcement regime and House antis claiming they are so doing, Congress today faced the session's most bitter row over prohibition. The fight is scheduled for next week.

Both Senators Norris (R.), Nebraska, and Wheeler (D.), Montana, were pleading with colleagues for a "preliminary hearing" to show the necessity of adopting their resolutions for a nation-wide investigation of dry law enforcement.

Militant drys claimed they would present startling evidence to the Senate Judiciary Committee to justify their proposals.

House antis, having presented before the judiciary committee wit-

BOY DROWNED IN ICE POND

One boy was drowned while a dozen of his schoolmates looked on helpless, and two others rescued from ice cakes by firemen in Sluice pond, Lynn, today.

The victim was Bernard Johnson of Jenness st., Lynn, who fell short in trying to leap to safety from the ice cake on which he and two companions were floating.

The rescued boys, brought ashore on ladders, were Raymond Hutchins of Bagley ter. and Francis Rogers of 10 Dexter st., both of Lynn.

The boys were on their way to school when they noticed the ice makes, recently cut, and were unable to resist the temptation. Johnson, Hutchins and Rogers leaped to an ice cake and from that to others. They reached a cake which floated out with them. Johnson tried to jump to safety but fell into the water and was drowned. Neighbors telephoned the police, some one called the fire station on Broadway.

Firemen, by pushing ladders out on the ice, were able to rescue Hutchins and Rogers.

Ann Seton Cottier to Wed Counselor

New York, Feb. 21 (AP)—Ann Seton Cottier, daughter of Ernest Thompson-Seton, famous naturalist, obtained today a license to marry Hamilton Chase, an investment counselor, on Tuesday. Mrs. Cottier was divorced from Hamilton Cottier, a Princeton instructor, on February 10. They were married in July, 1923.

Boy Runaway Is Sent to Shirley

Lawrence McDonald, 16, of Newark, N. J., who has run away 20 times, in Charlestown court today was sentenced to the Boys Industrial School at Shirley.

He was picked up in Charlestown at 3 o'clock in the morning, having made his way from Newark.

Nichols and Wife Greeted by Pope Pius

Vatican City, Feb. 21 (AP)—Pope Pius today received in audience Malcolm E. Nichols, former mayor of Boston, and Mrs. Nichols, who were introduced by Msgr. Francis Spellman of the Boston diocese.

The pontiff paid tribute to Boston's large share in supporting Catholic missions and asked affectionately of news of Cardinal O'Connell. He presented the visitors with a medal commemorative of the jubilee year and imparted the benediction.

Ileana, Loser in Love, Appears Gay

Bucharest, Rumania, Feb. 21 (AP)—Princess Ileana appeared in good spirits today as she boarded the steamer Dacia with Queen Marie for a 40 day trip through Palestine and Egypt.

It was understood she was informed by her mother of the necessity of abandoning her betrothal to Count von Hochberg.

Ileana apparently accepted the situation and endeavored to suppress her feelings by chatting gaily with personages present at her departure.

Edward H. Greenleaf, 82, Dead in London

Edward H. Greenleaf, 82, former curator of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, died recently in London, according to cable advices received in Boston today.

Until his death Mr. Greenleaf was the oldest living member of the class of '72, Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He was the son of Judge Greenleaf and Mrs. Otis Greenleaf.

He was one of the charter members of the Tavern Club. Thirty years ago he left America for a pleasure trip abroad and thereafter had resided in London.

POLICE RIDE INTO CROWD AND CLUB LEADERS

Several Injured and a Dozen Arrested; Communists Plan Outbreak March 7

Chicago, Feb. 21 (AP)—Several hundred men and women milled about the City Hall today in protest against unemployment. Squads of mounted police charged the throng, using billies to keep the leaders from haranguing the mob that quickly gathered.

Seven persons suffered bruised heads, and several were arrested.

The march on City Hall started after a mass meeting at Redhifer Hall on North Wells st., called "to fight unemployment."

LEADERS ARE BEATEN

Squads of mounted officers, warned of their approach, spurred striking right and left with clubs their horses to the sidewalks, and knocking several persons down.

Ringleaders who climbed to boxes on the corners and started addressing their followers were pushed down and beaten.

The disturbances broke out simultaneously on all four sides of the City Hall, which, with the County Building, occupies an entire block in the Loop, surrounded by Clark, Randolph, LaSalle and Washington sts.

When the throng gathered at the Clark st. entrance to the County Building, four policemen rode abreast down the sidewalk.

The boldest of the marchers was a young girl who bobbed up on a rostrum every time she was pulled down by the police. She was one of a dozen or more herded into a patrol and taken away.

COMMUNIST PROPAGANDA

Hand bills urging the unemployed to "join the international demonstration against unemployment Thursday, March 6," were tossed about.

The demonstration took place at the noon hour, attracting thousands of Loop workers as they stepped out to lunch.

The hand bills were signed by the "Trade Union Unity League" and contained attacks on the American Federation of Labor, "exploiting" bosses and issued a call for the workers to "rally to the defense of their fatherland, the Soviet Union." The literature estimated unemployed in this country at 7,000,000 and predicted 10,000,000 by summer. It concluded:

"March 6 was set aside by the Communist International as a day of international struggle and solidarity against unemployment."

"Wages and Work" was the rallying cry of the crowd.

A cordon of police was thrown about the building and at the Federal building to prevent violence, but the demonstration appeared at an end after a half hour.

There had been no attempt at violence on the part of the marchers. A considerable portion of the sidewalk crowd, menaced by the police charge and the swinging clubs, was composed of those on the way to lunch who gathered to ask, "What it's all about?"

Washington, Feb. 21 (AP)—Acquisition by the Great Northern Pacific Railway Co. of control of the Great Northern Railway and the Northern Pacific Railway was approved today by the Interstate Commerce Commission and smiled as the black hood was adjusted over her head. She said she had no statement to make.

WOMAN GOES TO GALLOWS AFTER KISSING DEATH CELL GUARDS

Warden Wright clasped her hand and said "God bless you, Eva."

Mrs. Dugan smiled and said, "Goodbye, Daddy Wright."

A few seconds later the steel trap was sprung.

FOIL POISON PLOT

Warden Wright a few minutes before the hanging revealed to newspaper men the discovery of what he believed was a plot by Mrs. Dugan to cheat the gallows by taking poison before she was removed to a cell in the death chamber.

Acting on a tip that the woman had procured poison, Wright said a search of her abandoned cell led to the discovery beneath a mattress of a two-ounce bottle of a "deadly poison." The bottle, he said, bore the label of a Florence drug store.

Wright said the woman apparently intended to commit suicide, but was prevented from taking the poison by the vigilance of guards. An investigation was started to learn the source of the poison.

Mrs. Dugan was taken to the death cell beneath the execution chamber a little before midnight. Attorney-General K. Berry Peterson had ruled that her last minute appeal for commutation of sentence to life imprisonment would not affect the carrying out of the extreme penalty.

FACES DEATH CALMLY

Mrs. Dugan's final preparations for death were simple. She calmly packed a wardrobe trunk and suitcase and requested Warden Lorenzo Wright to send them to her sister-in-law, Mrs. Edith Patterson of Weston, Mo. Her personal belongings put away, she began the last tidying up of her cell.

"It's just as I found it, this room of mine," she said, when the housecleaning was finished. Then she offered packages of cigarettes from a full carton to visitors. "I can't smoke them after tomorrow," she explained, with a smile.

A telegram delivered to the woman late in the night revealed for the first time the identity of her daughter, Mrs. Cecil [illegible] of South Bend, Ind. The message read:

"Dear mother: Be brave. God is with you. All my love. I will pray for you always. Cecil."

Mrs. Dugan refused to disclose the name of her son. Prison officials said no word had been received from him.

FATHER FAILS TO COME

The condemned woman's 81-year old father, William McDaniels of Ceres, Cal., was not able to grant her last wish that he be with her during the hours preceding her death. Enfeebled and scarcely able to walk, the aged man expressed regret that he could not comply and issued a statement in which he said he was convinced of his daughter's innocence.

"She was convicted on circumstantial evidence and prejudice," he said.

Mrs. Dugan apparently resigned to her fate was calm as the hour of her execution approached.

"I'll have nothing to say, but good-bye," she said.

"I'm going to show the world that I can take it."

The doomed woman spent the last few hours preceding her execution in the company of the prison chaplain and a few friends.

PLAYS CARDS UNTIL END

Until after midnight she sat at a card table and played whist with two women acquaintances and a woman prisoner, while outside her cell the death watch paced back and forth.

Occasionally she reached out to caress a telegram which lay on the table, the farewell message from her daughter.

During the game Mrs. Dugan requested that her "guests" be served with orangeade. Several minutes passed before the drink was served and the condemned woman called to a guard:

"Please bring on the orangeade. I want it now. Tomorrow will be too late."

Since early evening the sky had been overcast and a light rain was pattering on the gravelled pathway as the woman was led from her cell in the prison proper across an open space to the death cell.

She smoked a cigarette and joked with guards as she marched along, and as they neared the gallows house she laughed and sang "I Don't Know Where I'm Going, But I'm On My Way."

KISSES TWO OF GUARDS

Mrs. Dugan kissed two of the guards who left her at the door of the death house and said: "I love everyone connected with the prison. You have all been good to me, and I can't blame you for what the law is going to do to me."

The guards were more visibly affected than was the woman who stood in the shadow of the scaffold.

A telegram delivered to her in the condemned cell revealed a hitherto unknown chapter in her early life. The message, signed "Ada Hostapple, Seattle, Wash." read: "I sympathize with you and have the greatest admiration for your bravery and grit."

"Ada is an old friend of the Yukon days," Mrs. Dugan said. "Probably you didn't know it, but I was one of those who followed the gold rush into the Yukon."

Mrs. Dugan will be buried in the prison graveyard, in a shroud of white silk which she made herself. Several weeks ago she purchased a casket and paid an undertaker to prepare her body for burial.

Father Says Mrs. Dugan Was "Victim of Prejudice"

Modesto, Cal., Feb. 21 (AP).—William McDaniels of Ceres, 81-year-old father of Eva Dugan, hanged today at Florence, Ariz., expressed his belief in her innocence. He also believes she was sane.

"I believe in capital punishment," McDaniels, feeble and scarcely able to walk, said. "If she killed Mathis, she should hang, but I know she did not. She was convicted on circumstantial evidence and prejudice."

The last letter McDaniels received from his daughter came yesterday. It read:

"Dear Papa: Well, the parole board handed down their decision that I must die the 21st and I am sick and don't care much. My lawyer is going to have a trial and see if I am insane or sane this week.

"Don't grieve, papa, we'll meet in a better world. They'll bury me down in Florence. Not a scratch of a pen from anybody. I hope you will live a long time yet, papa.

"They have locked me up and put a guard over me. Answer soon or it will be too late. Love, Eva."

houses of prominence, who testified that prohibition enforcement has broken down in city and rural sections alike, were gathering more evidence to be presented next week.

The insistence of Norris, Wheeler and many other leading Senate drys indicated the Senate Judiciary Committee may on Monday authorize the proposed inquiry. The Norris resolution apparently was favored over Wheeler's, which contained serious charges against the present enforcement regime.

Administration drys thus far have maintained a passive opposition only on the ground that the inquiry would serve no useful purpose, since enforcement is being transferred to the Justice Department.

Representative Linthicum (D.), Maryland, chairman of the House "[illegible]" was enthusiastic over the House hearings on repeal or modification of the 18th amendment.

Somewhat disappointed that Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and R. S. du Pont, Wilmington, Del., capitalist, had been unable to reach Washington for the hearings, he promised to present them next week.

Green Makes Labor's Plea to Wickersham for Beer

Washington, Feb. 21 (INS). A letter from President William Green of the American Federation of Labor to the Wickersham law enforcement commission appealing for 2.75 beer in order to quell resentment against prohibition and relieve unemployment, was placed in the Congressional Record today by Representative Bacon (R.), New York.

George W. Wickersham, chairman of the commission, has set March 5 for a hearing upon the proposal of Representative Dyer (R.), Missouri, to legalize beer.

Re-establishment of the beer industry, Green said, would relieve unemployment. Workers thrown out of employment by prohibition were absorbed by other industries in a period of abnormal prosperity, but the situation has changed, he said.

"We no longer have an outlet for our production in European countries," he said. "In fact, we are now meeting competition of European products. The result has slowed down American industries, creating a serious unemployed situation."

Legalized beer, Green explained would "bring about true temperance" and go a long way toward pacifying "the great mass of our people and make possible the enforcement of the 18th amendment against hard liquor."

The federation, he said, had pointed out "the deplorable conditions that would come and had come from enforcement of the Volstead act."

A brewing industry, he said, would consume 2,500,000 tons of coal each year, require 130,000 freight cars for transportation, provide employment for metal workers, glass blowers and others.

It would relieve farm depression, he said, because industry, as formerly, would consume $110,000,000 worth of barley, corn and other farm products annually.

MAWSON RADIO POCKETED IN ANTARCTIC

Although Fairly Near Byrd, No Communication Could Be Established

By SIR DOUGLAS MAWSON

Radio via London

S. S. Discovery, Kerguelen Island, Antarctica, Feb. 18 (Delayed).

Radio communication has been limited this week which was spent chipping boilers. Our only power available was that generated by the small auxiliary gasoline motor operated for two hours each day.

Although full power is restored now, we are still unable to maintain free communication with Australia.

The same effect—"screening"—from the eastern localities, is experienced, as when we were last here at Kerguelen Island, but the difficulty does not exist a few miles away from the island.

During the voyage into and away from the pack ice and back to our base, Radio Operator Williams met many curious irregularities in radio distribution. For example, although we have been within 2000 miles of the base of Rear Admiral Byrd, on the other side of Antarctica, we were never able to communicate with them directly.

Our coaling is now far advanced and we expect our engine overhauling to be completed Friday morning. Meanwhile, besides assisting in these operations, our scientific staff, though hampered by the hurricane winds, descending at frequent intervals, is busy mapping and collecting specimens about the neighborhood.

On these excursions white samoyed dogs, in fine fettle and most wild, are frequently sighted. It is reported they descended from the sled dogs left by the Goss expedition of 1911-12 and are destructive to birds and seals.

RACE DRIVER DIES IN CRASH

Littleton, Col., Feb. 21 (AP). The mysterious crash of his speeding car brought death to Joe Unser, auto racer, who for the past four years in succession drove his machine to second place in the annual Pike's Peak auto race.

Unser died at a hospital four hours after he was found, unconscious and badly crushed, at the wheel of his car, which stood upright beside the highway near a railroad underpass south of here.

No one saw the accident and authorities were at a loss to determine how it occurred. The racing car, the same that Unser drove to second place in the Pike's Peak race last Labor Day, was little damaged. Apparently it had become unmanageable at high speed and turned over several times, coming to an upright position.

Armed Girl Bandit Held for Holdups

Camden, N. J., Feb. 21. Police arrested an attractive bobbed-haired girl on suspicion of holdup charges here early today after Policeman Henry Hall fired five shots at her.

The girl, who said she was Hilda Carlton, 20, of Newark, N. J., had three masks and a loaded .32-calibre pistol strapped to her waist, according to police.

"Say, Big Boy, give a girl a break, won't you?" said the girl when Policeman Hall seized her after a two-block chase.

KILLER OF 8 IS EXPOSED BY HIS 'BOASTS'

Baker Talked "Too Much" to a Woman; Made Victim Eat Poison "for Fun"

Detroit, Feb. 24. James Baker, the "snake man," a globe-trotting poison fiend, came to the end of his career because he boasted too much to a woman.

His talk of the thrills of seeing a person die and his carelessness in dropping a newspaper clipping, resulted in his arrest and his confession that during his world travels he killed eight men.

The woman, whose name is concealed, went to the police and after a series of remarkable coincidences Baker was captured.

His almost unbelievable story became known as New York authorities hurried toward Detroit to question him concerning the poison murder of Henry Gaw, watchman in the Guggenheim Laboratories, on December 27, 1928.

Baker, a sailor who boasts he had himself tattooed each time he committed a murder, has confessed in detail to forcing cyanide into Gaw's mouth on the end of his revolver barrel, "just to see if it would work."

CLIPPING TRAPS HIM.

Two weeks ago, it was learned, a woman went to the police and told them of the strange actions of a man on a farm 15 miles from the city. He talked much of murders, she said, and her suspicions were further aroused when he dropped a clipping telling of Gaw's slaying.

Then Detective Thomas Smith of the New York district attorney's office happened into Detroit, looking for another prisoner. He read the clipping, recognized the case and immediately went out to the farm.

There, in Baker's room, he found a photograph of Baker. He brought it back to New York, where it was identified as a picture of the man wanted in the Gaw case. Detroit police were notified and Baker was arrested.

All eight of his victims, Baker says, were poisoned for no apparent reason. One, his stepfather, was also shot.

HIS TRAIL OF CRIME

Baker has given the following account of murders, according to police:

He fled Warren, O., to become a sailor after killing his stepfather, H. T. Park, in 1924.

He went to Houston, Tex., where he stole a quantity of strychnine tablets. His first poison victim was a sailor named Honeycutt, in whose beer he placed four tablets.

Next he signed up as a tailor and in a voyage which took him to Hamburg, Germany, he poisoned a sailor in a beer garden.

At Las Piedras, Venezuela, Baker says he placed a large number of tablets in a keg of beer, which caused the death of three shipmates and illness to others.

He also tells of poisoning a Hindu beggar in Bombay, India, and a Filipino at Ilo Ilo, Philippine Islands.

GIRL GRIEVES FOR HIM

Eleanor Roy, 17, to whom Baker often boasted of his killings and robberies, today was grieving departure of the companion who, she says, "made life pleasant for her."

Eleanor is the daughter of Newton Roy, on whose farm Baker worked when arrested.

"He made life pleasant for me for 10 months, because he was always ready to do anything I wanted, and I liked to be out doors with him," she said. "And I'm sorry for him.

"I'd rather help with the outside farm work than wash dishes and other house work. And Jimmy was always an excuse for me getting out of doors."

'Scarface' Capone to Leave Jail March 17

Philadelphia, Feb. 21 (AP)

"Scarface Al" Capone, after 10 quiet months in Eastern Pennsylvania State penitentiary, will walk out of the gates a free man St. Patrick's Day. Good behavior cut two months from the Chicago gang leader's year sentence for carrying a loaded pistol.

Officials of the penitentiary say his conduct has been model and he will leave behind a record of kindly deeds and generous giving to those in need" when he and his bodyguard, Frank Cline, are freed.

After transfer to the State prison he was given an office job. His particular task was filing.

Dr. Chase Illinois University Head

Urbana, Ill., Feb. 24 (AP). Dr. Harry Woodburn Chase, head of the University of North Carolina for 10 years, was elected president of the University of Illinois, succeeding Dr. David Kinley, retired.

Born in Groveland, Mass., 47 years ago, Dr. Chase was graduated with the bachelor's degree from Dartmouth in 1904 and received his master's from there in 1908.

Rum Dumped in Lake Stirs Canadian Town

St. Catherines, Ont., Feb. 21 (AP). Residents of Niagara-on-the-Lake are aroused over the action of U. S. customs officers in pouring 10,000 gallons of contraband liquor into the Niagara river from which the city obtains its supply of drinking water.

The water passes through an efficient filtration plant, and one report has it that it was this efficiency that has aroused the citizenry.

Test Rum Case

James E. Farrar

James A. Creswell

Boston Elevated employe and his attorney who will fight Monday in federal court to quash indictment of Farrar as alleged purchaser of liquor in first case of its kind here.

FIGHTS LIQUOR BUYER CHARGE

A motion to quash the indictment against James E. Farrar of Watertown, Boston Elevated trolley operator, charged with illegally purchasing liquor, will be argued Monday in federal court.

According to his counsel, James A. Cresswell, the case will be carried to the U. S. circuit court of appeals in the event that either side loses in Monday's arguments before Judge Morton.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Elihu D. Stone will argue for the government against Farrar, first man to be indicted here for alleged illegal purchase of liquor.

Although Farrar was indicted on February 7, it was brought out by Atty. Cresswell today, he has never been arraigned in court, has never been sought out or sent for by the federal authorities in connection with the case and is not under bonds.

The attorney declared also that Frank Rotondo of Medford, from whom Farrar is alleged to have purchased the liquor, has never been arraigned or sent for, although indicted at the same time for illegal selling.

Farrar is working every day at the Reservoir, Brookline, car barns on the Lake St.-Commonwealth Ave. line.

HUB'S HOT WAVE IS BROKEN

Starting the day as one of the warmest spots in the country, Boston lost its early "hot wave," temporarily at least, when the wind swung from south and southwest to northwest and north.

In two hours, from noon to 2 p.m., the mercury dropped 18 degrees, from 62 to 44. There was a 10-degree drop from noon to 1 p.m.

The wind started to shift at 11 a.m., when the mercury scaled 60, but two more degrees were attained before the slip back began and the maximum of 62 was only one degree under record for February 21 in 1906.

However, the weather man declared the holiday week-end will be comparatively warm and will be rainless.

PARLEY UNEASY OVER PARIS CRISIS

Leaders Fear the Conference Will Fail Because of the French Unstability

London, Feb. 21 (AP)—Undercurrents of apprehension as to possible consequences of the French political situation were discernible today among those connected with the five-power naval conference who remained in London over the week-end.

The question uppermost in most minds was what will happen to the conference if the French government crisis is not settled by next Wednesday, when the week's recess ends?

The solution, taking another recess, had its difficult aspects which certainly will not be satisfying to those who finally must face such a situation.

London hoped Camille Chautemps would be able to get a majority in the French chamber for the cabinet he is getting together.

One French observer said:

"A Government, such as that of M. Chautemps, may receive endorsement, and the conference may continue next week, but again, there is a good chance that any new Government will last but a few days and that consequently the French delegation at London will again become an orphan. There may be several governments to rise and fall within the next few weeks and meanwhile the conference will be unable to proceed."

Informal study of the question of the humanization of submarine warfare took place at the foreign office today between the legal experts of the "Big Five."

George A. Rublee, confidential adviser to Ambassador Morrow, and Keith Merrill, personal adviser to Secretary Stimson, represented the United States.

It was decided that each delegation shall prepare preliminary drafts of clauses which they think the treaty should contain and be prepared to submit them at another meeting of the legal experts Tuesday so the conference may have something definite to work on when it resumes Wednesday.

way Hyman Koretz, secretary of the Garment Workers' Union, announced that two cloak companies whose employes were on strike had met the demands of the union and that officials of four other companies were seeking a settlement.

He charged that gangmen were being imported into Boston by officials of another union in an effort to defeat the strike.

ORDERS ARREST OF FIVE

As an aftermath of a fracas yesterday Judge James H. Devlin issued warrants for the arrest of five men charged with assault and battery on four girls who were arrested yesterday in the strike area.

The girls, Gertrude Weinstein, Lena Shensky, Jennie Hyde and Shirley Bloomenthal appeared in court today with their counsel, Atty. George Alfred, and the warrants were issued after they had testified. In court yesterday these four girls were charged with assault and battery on Ralph Greenberg, pleaded not guilty and their cases were continued to February 26.

In Roxbury court today the cases of five bakers, charged with sauntering and loitering in Blue Hill ave., near a bakery where a strike is under way, were continued to March 5 for a hearing.

LORD WESTBURY'S PLUNGE TO DEATH RECALLS KING TUT'S 'CURSE'

11TH TO DIE IN FATEFUL SERIES

Worried Over Death of Son Who Was Howard Carter's Aid in Egypt

London, Feb. 21—The "curse of King Tut-Ankh-Amen" was vividly recalled here today with the death of Baron Westbury, who plunged 100 feet from a window of his London apartment to the street.

Baron Westbury's son, the Hon. Richard Bethell, 46, died suddenly last November. Bethell was associated with Howard Carter and Lord Carnarvon in the discovery of the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen in the Valley of Kings near Luxor, Egypt.

Bethell's death was the 10th in circles connected with the discovery and excavation of the pharaoh's tomb. A papyrus found in the vault threatened sudden death to all concerned. Carter, chief disturber of the tomb, is still living.

An inquest into Lord Westbury's death was held and a verdict of suicide while of unsound mind was rendered.

Two farewell letters on black-edged note paper were produced. On one of them Lord Westbury had writen: "I really cannot stand any more horrors."

Lord Westbury had worried over the death of his son.

In the very flat from which Lord Westbury plunged were several important and exquisite works of Egyptian art from the Egyptian valley of kings, which Bethell had given him.

Lord Westbury lived alone in the care of a trained nurse. He took advantage of the nurse's temporary absence from his room to arise from his bed and tumble to his death.

His body crashed through a glass veranda ceiling 100 feet below, and knocked over a woman there. She was so badly cut by broken glass and so affected by shock it was necessary to take her to a hospital.

TUNNEL LINKED TO 'SLAVERY'

Worcester, Feb. 21—The age and early use of the subterranean tunnels and apartments discovered branching out beneath the New Bay State Hotel have become subjects of much speculation among the older residents.

Many believe they were constructed in the 18th century and were used for a period in the "underground railway" slave running era to hide negroes bound in service and attempting to flee to Canada.

Francis H. Dewey, Jr., treasurer of the corporation that owns the hotel, believes they may go back to the opening of the old Central Hotel, built in 1722.

Benjamin H. Stone, treasurer of the Worcester Theater and whose grandfather was a well-known Worcester physician, says:

"Worcester, back in the slave-running days between 1854 and '61, had two stations on the underground system. One of these was located at Tatnuck sq. and the other near Hadwen Park in an old barn."

C. Waldo Cutler, curator of the Worcester Historical Society, does not think it likely that any slave-running operations were carried on under the hotel. He thihks it more likely that the chambers formed a cold storage cellar for vegetables and meats.

7th Brockton Home Fire Victim Dies

Brockton, Feb. 21—The seventh victim of the City Home fire which took place on February 11 died early today at the Brockton City Hospital. The victim, Mrs. Catherine Bird, 80, had been at the hospital since the fire.

Daniel Denehy, 60, died last night at the hospital from burns that he had suffered, the sixth victim.

British Will Bar Women From Fights

London, Feb. 21 (AP)—The Daily Express today says women would be barred from attending boxing tournaments organized by the British Army Boxing Association.

The paper said heads of the association had decided boxing was "not an edifying spectacle" for women.

U. S. Woman Hurls Bacarat Winnings to Mob in Nice

Paris, Feb. 21 (AP)—A Nice dispatch to the Paris edition of the Chicago Tribune today said that Mrs. Frank B. Philipps of Beverly Hills, Cal., threw her afternoon's winnings in the Casino out of the window into the street.

They amounted to 36,000 francs about $1440) in currency and negotiable chips.

Gay carnival crowds on the Promenade des Anglais made a wild scramble for the money and blocked the famous thoroughfare. Police had to be called.

First Wedding at Sea on Liner Bremen

On her latest voyage to New York and while still far at sea, the German liner Bremen, which holds the record for transatlantic crossings, was scene of a wedding which took place in the chapel, as shown here in Acme photo. The bridegroom, Caspar Giggenbach, and the bride, Dora Schilling, both of Germany, are shown kneeling before the Rev. Fr. Esthers, who officiated. In the background is Frank Birks, sexton of the, ship's chapel. This was the first wedding that has taken place aboard the famous ship.

Vassar Girls and Rail Head Hurt in Crash

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Feb. 21 (AP)—A railroad official and a Vassar student were near death today while police were holding the operator of a motorcycle that had ploughed into a pedestrian group in front of Vassar College, injuring seven persons, including three Vassar juniors.

Murray Sullivan, general manager of the Salt Lake City-Utah railroad, suffered a fractured skull and leg and internal injuries. His daughter, Nancy Adair Sullivan, one of the students in the group, was not hurt.

Marian Jay Wurts, Englewood (N. J.) Vassar student, suffered a fractured skull. Her condition was described as critical.

Anna Margaret Deering Noyes, Portland, Me., suffered broken legs and broken left arm. Sara Lopez-Fitueroa, Mexico City, Mexico, is in the Vassar infirmary, but not seriously hurt. Virginia Vea Davis of Honolulu, Hawaii, also is in the infirmary, suffering from shock.

Edward Terrell of Poughkeepsie, driver of the motorcycle, was cut and lacerated. Mrs. Josephine Knickerbocker, passenger in the sidecar, was cut, but her husband, Roy, also a passenger, was not hurt. Mrs. Sullivan, among the pedestrians, likewise escaped injury.

Police booked Terrell on a charge of third-degree assault. No one could give the cause of the accident which occurred at a point where the roadway is straight. Terrell said he had been driving 25 miles an hour.

U. S. TO SPEED CANCER CURE RESEARCH

Senate Committee Calls Drs. Coffee and Humber to Conference

San Francisco, Feb. 21—Prospects of aid from the United States government, as well as from the eminent scientific research agencies has given promise of almost unlimited new experimentation with the Coffey-Humber anti-cancer extract.

A Senate committee considering means of government aid in the quest for a cancer cure, wired an invitation to Drs. Walter B. Coffey and John D. Humbert to appear before the committee to suggest possible methods of federal co-operation.

The invitation was dispatched by Senator Hiram Johnson, chairman of the commerce committee, and Senator William J. Harris of Georgia, chairman of the sub-committee on cancer.

COFFEY PLEASED

Dr. Coffey, pleased with the invitation, said he would be delighted to appear before the committee when it is possible for him to find time from his work to do so.

"It is just what we need," he said. "We have no intention of standing alone in this endeavor, nor do we pretend to have said the last word. Through such co-operation we might find a genius who would add something to our extract to make it more effective and complete."

Other outstanding tenders of co-operation have come from the United States public health service and Dr. Joseph Cold Bloodgood, eminent surgeon of Johns Hopkins University at Baltimore, Dr. Coffey revealed.

"Bloodgood wrote me a very cordial letter," he added, "stating that he would be happy to place our project before the American Association for Cancer Research, which has funds available for just the sort of work we are trying to do.

WANTED SAMPLE

"He first wired a request for a sample of the extract, but I was forced to reply that under our established rules it is impossible, for the present, to comply with his request. His proposal was to carry on experiments at Johns Hopkins."

Although Dr. Coffey was suffering from a cold he and Dr. John F. Humber, his associate, continued their treatment of some 50 cancer cases which had been declared hopeless.

People Who Interest You and What They Are Doing

Inez Norton to Star in 'Reinstein's Murder'

New York, Feb. 21—Inez Norton has come home from Florida with a sun tan and a typewritten statement for the public.

Inez Norton

The sun tan explained itself. The typewritten statement explained Miss Norton would play the leading role in a drama about the murder of Arnold Rothstein.

Rothstein is remembered on Broadway as the man whose death made a lot of gamblers run for cover and Richard E. Enright run for mayor.

Miss Norton was named in his will.

Mrs. Norton Will Debate Dry Law With W. C. T. U.

Washington, Feb. 21 (AP)—Representative Mary T. Norton, of Jersey City, expressed willingness today to engage in a prohibition debate on the radio with Mrs. Ella Boole, president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

Mary T. Norton

The debate would be held over the Columbia Broadcasting System, probably March 28. It would be staged under the auspices of the Radio Home-Makers' Club. Mrs. Norton, ardent liberal, would speak from a Washington station and Mrs. Boole would reply from a New Yorkk station.

Mrs. Norton is the author of a resolution, now before the House Judiciary Committee, seeking a national referendum on prohibition.

Mrs. Thelma White Stroud Knows Who She Married

New York, Feb. 21—After two years of indecision, Mrs. Thelma Stroud has made up her mind as to whom she was married. Claude Stroud is the man, she informed Official Referee J. M. Tierney and she asked to annul the marriage.

Mrs. T. W. Stroud

Previously, Mrs. Stroud, formerly Thelma White, actress, was uncertain whether Claude or his twin, Clarence, led her to the altar when she was 15.

Tierney reminded her that she could be prosecuted for swearing she was 21 at the time and Thelma wept. Decision on the annulment application was reserved.

Corinne Griffith Quits $12,000 a Wek For Fun

Hollywood, Cal, Feb. 21—Corinne Griffith is all through with the movies. She is quitting cold when she is at the very top of the heap, giving up $12,000 a week for the privilege of having a good time and doing exactly as she pleases.

Corinne Griffith

Corinne will make just one more picture under the First National banner and then forever abjure the work and worry, the triumphs, tribulations and troubles of the tyrannical sun arc.

Her contract has two years to run, but of her own volition she sought out Jack Warner and persuaded him to buy it from her.

CHICAGO GANGS FACE NEW WAR

Chicago, Feb. 21 (AP)—"Millions for prosecution, not one cent for tribute," was the answer of Chicago business today to the encroachments of the gangster and the racketeer.

Revelation of the anti-crime program prepared by Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, and his "secret committee of six," disclosed that an organization of investigators, indictment experts and special prosecutors will be used to aid police to route or jail the bomber, racketeer, extortionist and gangster.

The program will be financed by the millions that racketeers have heretofore squeezed from business men by threats of bombing and abduction.

Randolph's committee was summoned for a conference today to swing the program into action. "If the sum needed be $1,000,000 or $5,000,000, the business men of Chicago will furnish it," Randolph said.

MAINE FACES FLOOD PERIL

Lewiston, Me., Feb. 21 (AP)—Threatened flood conditions prevail along the Androscoggin watershed after a period of severe drought, Paul Bean, hydraulic engineer of the Union Water Power Co., said today.

A survey of the watershed situation showed that about 40 billion cubic feet of water is ready to pour into an uncontrolled area below Errol, N. H.

Bean said if this should occur in a relatively short time, precipitated by a thaw and warm rains, "a flood of some magnitude" might be expected.

River engineers looked with concern on predictions of storm and warmer weather for Sunday.

REP. FISH RAPS DRUG POLICY

New York, Feb. 21—Criticism of the anti-narcotic policy of the United States was voiced today by Representative Hamilton Fish (R.) of New York, in a speech before the concluding session of the world conference on narcotic education at the McAlpin Hotel.

Declaring he differed from Representative Porter (R.) of Pennsylvania, chairman of the House foreign affairs committee, who headed the American delegation to the Geneva conference on narcotic control in 1925, Fish criticised Porter for insisting on definite limitation of poppy production before the United States would co-operate with the other nations to control the manufactured output.

"Since 1926," Fish said, "the government of the United States, which should have assumed the leadership of anti-narcotic enforcement, has instead played a lone hand and gone ahead with the 'I won't play' idea as its main anti-dope policy."

Fish urged the conference to recommend another Geneva conference on narcotics, declaring that American delegates had "bungled the job" at the 1925 meeting. The United States merely had an observer at the conference just concluded at Geneva.

"The seriousness of the narcotic problem has not yet been fully recognized by the American people or by the Congress," said Fish. "One-third of all the inmates of our federal prisons are addicts, violators of the narcotic laws. It is estimated by reliable authorities that over 50 per cent of the crimes of violence are attributable to the use of some form of drugs."

OLD HANGAR TO BE TAKEN OFF AIRPORT

By GEORGE HAMBLIN

Anybody want to buy a good hangar? Or rather, a hangar once good?

Well, if you do, you'd better talk fast, because the old Boston Airport Corp. hangar out in the middle of the Boston Municipal Airport is going to go places and see things right soon.

The bids for the removal of the shack were opened, and when the smoke had died away, the Atlantic Building Wrecking Company of Lynn had won the coveted title of "Hangar Remover" for the sum of $300.

The hangar has thus cost the city $15,300, but when it is removed it's going will be worth any amount.

According to the advertisement published for the bids, the shack must be removed within ten days of the signing of the contract with the winning bidder.

In a way, it is rather a shame to take the hangar out of there, because it will be the last remaining vestage of the old boys who made their living from commercial flying in Boston years ago, and who built up the present million-dollar layout. The first commercial operator, Eddie O'Toole, dropped into the airport for a visit, and to take a last, long look at the old hangar. Eddie had a far-away look in his eye as he surveyed all that is left of the first company on the airport, which grew up into the Boston Airport Corp., and was then bought out by Curtiss.

But, sentiment or no sentiment, the airport has grown up, and will continue to grow up, and what happened in years gone by will be just memories.

A vacation of more than a month in Florida, and George Watkins, who was chief pilot for Massachusetts Airways of Springfield last summer, returns with tales of the tough conditions prevailing in flying circles in that sunshine state.

George witnessed the Miami Air Meet, and declared that if he had been flying an Argo down there in the races for ships up to 200 horsepower, he could have cleaned up. And then he learned how an outside loop should be done.

Here's the low down. Your ship must first be a true stunt plane, of course, and must have a gasoline tank in the undercarriage, with a double carburetor, or some arrangement for feeding gasoline when you're upside down. Then proceed with the first lesson.

Throttle the motor, and point the nose straight down; push her over on her back, at the same time giving the motor the gun. Your upside down gas feed then comes into action, and your motor starts clicking. Then snap the stick all the way forward and the first thing you know, you're rightside up again, without having put any undue strain on the ship such as a long, power dive brings.

George says he will try the stunt when he gets back at an Argo again.

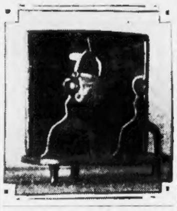
DAILY ANTIQUE

—No. 29—



Pictured today is an oddity in children's toys. It is a tiny cast-iron Franklin stove, with andirons and hanging kettle. The view of the stove is from the rear. Although this type of fireplace improvement had its origin in Revolutionary times, the particular piece dates from about 1820 and comes from Maine. It is owned by Mrs. Cecil E. Fraser of Boylston st., Cambridge, prominent collector of Colonial and early American antiques, and a leading authority on early painted furniture.

This type of stove will be further discussed by an expert in Monday's American.

In connection with the Massachusetts Tercentenary Year, the Boston Evening American will publish from day to day interesting specimens of authentic antiques. Readers possessing genuine antiques, particularly articles of Colonial or early American origin or of historic association, are invited to forward photographs and records for publication. In case no photograph is available, the American will send one of its staff cameramen to photograph your antique if you live in Greater Boston. Material should be addressed to "Antique Editor, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston."

The chair shown yesterday is an extremely simplified model of the Chippendale type, which flourished in the third quarter of the 18th century. The legs differ from many seen on many Chippendale pieces in that they are straight and underbraced in a manner used in later pieces. It was customary also to have some carving at the top of the cresting. This has been omitted in the museum specimen shown, and the top is plain. Likewise the splat is of much simpler design than European Chippendale models. Chippendale's book of designs called for two types of chairs, plain and fancy. In style they reflected variously the Dutch influence, the ladderback, French, Cathedral-Gothic and Chinese.

N. E. Medical Center Drive on the Air

The N. E. Medical Center $1,500,000 fund campaign went on the air today, through the generosity of the University Double Quartet, Douglas A. MacKinnon, director. The quartet donated its services and was heard from Station WNAC about the time the Junior League was giving its play, "When Toys Talk" at the Boston Dispensary for the Children's Clinic.

QUALITY URGED ON FURNISHERS

At the annual meeting and banquet of the Home Furnishers' Association of Massachusetts and the Boston Market Exhibitors' Association in the Hotel Statler, 300 retail dealers heard Ernest Cohen, prominent furniture manufacturer, urge the selling of high-class merchandise instead of low prices.

The dealers are in Boston to attend the semi-annual exposition in the Boston Furniture Mart at 150 Causeway st., where more than 300 exhibitors from all sections of the country are displaying the latest styles in home furnishings.

Other speakers at the banquet were Alonzo E. Yout, secretary of the Home Furnishers' Association, William Holman, president of the Exhibitors' Association, and Morris Bernstein, vice president of the Home Furnishers.

Four Schoolboys Start a "Speakeasy" With Stolen Whiskey

Kansas City, Feb. 21 (INS)—Four seventh-grade pupils were discovered by police here to have set up a "speakeasy" behind a billboard with liquor stolen from a cache in the basement of an apartment house.

The officers found 51 pints, four quarts and four gallon jugs done up in the fashionable wrappings and containing whiskey.

The juvenile liquor merchants, one 13 years old and three 14, confessed that they hoped to reap profits for candy and picture show money.

MOLLER GROUP ENJOYS PARTY

The Moller's Associates, an organization composed of Moller's employes, held an enjoyable dinner party at the Palais d'Or with Cecil Taylor, president of the associates, as toastmaster.

The popular "Jimmie" Gallagher entertained with some special numbers arranged particularly for the associates. President Taylor emphasized the purpose of the organization and hoped the "get-togethers" would continue.

After the associates had dined and danced to their heart's content, they adjourned to the Huntington Club where a bowling match was sponsored, ten teams competing.

Rate of Interest earned on mean invested assets 7.02%

The high rate of dividends allotted to participating policyholders is continued and the special dividend on maturing policies extended and increased.

EXTRACTS FROM DIRECTORS' REPORT

New policies paid for numbered 161,391 for a net amount of $654,451,143.27, an advance of $213,206,752.36, or more than forty-eight per cent., over the previous year. This marked increase and the fact that the average policy, for the first time, exceeded $4,000, affords impressive evidence of the ever-growing popularity of the Company.

After deducting amounts reassured, the total assurances in force amount to $2,401,237,036.94, an increase of $504,321,102.37. This advance is notable not merely for its magnitude, but because when allowance is made for terminations by death and maturity, it represents a remarkably high rate of continuance and evidences great satisfaction on the part of our policyholders.

The amount paid to policyholders since organization, together with the amount at present held for their security or benefit, exceeds the total amount received from them in premiums by $139,290,474.03.

The rate of interest earned on the mean invested assets has risen to 7.02 per cent. This figure includes a certain amount from bonuses and stock privileges accruing on many of the Company's holdings; but if these were entirely eliminated the rate would still be 6.60 per cent.

A net profit of $13,077,284.62 was realized from the redemption or sale of securities.

The surplus earned during the year, based on the values entered in the accounts, amounted to $42,863,578.59, but from this sum substantial appropriations have as usual been made to further strengthen the position of the Company.

An additional $10,000,000.00 has been deducted from the market values of our securities as a provision against possible market fluctuations, raising the amount thus set aside for this purpose in the accounts to $30,000,000.00.

A further $1,000,000.00 has been written off the Company's buildings.

$931,000.00 has been appropriated to raise the annuity reserves to the Rutherford table of valuation, with interest at 3½ per cent. This exacting standard requires reserves $2,656,000.00 in excess of those of the Dominion Government standard.

$1,200,000.00 has been set aside as additional provision for claims arising from total disability, death claims as yet unreported, and possible claims under cancelled policies on which a surrender value or reinstatement might be applied for.

$22,606,265.67 has been paid or allotted as profits for the year to policyholders.

The special amount entered as a liability to provide for unforeseen contingencies has been maintained at $12,500,000.00.

After making all these deductions and allocations, $5,868,899.96 has been added to the undivided surplus, bringing the total over liabilities, contingency accounts, and capital stock to $60,307,762.44.

In accordance with our usual conservative practice the securities owned by the Company have again been valued at figures much below the market quotations current at the close of the year. This undervaluation represents an important element of strength to the Company additional to the specific provisions in the statements.

Your Directors are pleased to announce that the high scale of profits at present allotted to participating policyholders will be continued during the ensuing year, while the Special Dividend on maturing policies, introduced last year, has been extended to include policies maturing after having been in force five years or longer, and the scale of benefit has been increased.

The business of the Company has always been conducted under the exacting provisions of the Canadian Insurance law and the rigid supervision of the Insurance Department of the Government of Canada. Ever since we entered the United States in 1895, the Company has been under similar supervision there and is now subject to the regulations of thirty-eight States of the Union which require periodical examination of the affairs of all companies licensed in their territory. In the discharge of their regular duties a committee of twenty-two examiners, representing the States of Michigan, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Ohio, Tennessee, Washington, Virginia, West Virginia, Florida and the District of Columbia recently completed an exhaustive examination into every department of the Company's affairs. The report of this committee makes gratifying reference to the liberal treatment accorded to our policyholders, and provides authoritative testimony to the Company's strength. Even adopting the low valuations placed by us on our securities, the committee still reported a surplus at the close of last year $1,333,921.71 in excess of the figure claimed by the Company.

Abandoned Tracks Declared Hazard

Editor Boston American:

The Department of Public Safety should have the authority to compel the Boston Elevated Railway to remove the endless miles of car tracks which are not and have not been in use for some time.

It is safe to say in and around Boston, there are many miles of track not in use and which are a menace to public safety. In some localities trolley wires have been removed, but the tracks are still in place. Whenever a bus replaces a street car, the railway should by law be required to remove the old tracks from our streets.

Those tracks when covered with snow are one of the chief causes of accidents, skiding, sideswiping, and lost control.

Illuminated Plates for Front of Cars

Editor Boston American:

We have a number of automobile bills in the legislature coming up for approval this year. Why not add one which would be beneficial to motorists, police departments and the general public? A law compelling every motor vehicle in Massachusetts to be equipped with a light over the front number plate, illuminating it and enabling it to be read sixty feet in front of the vehicle, the same as the rear light enables us to see the rear number plate.

Have you ever tried to read a number plate on the front of an automobile coming towards you on a dark road? In the case of stolen cars, liquor laden, or hit-and-run cars, whose plate numbers have been broadcast, police officers being able to read the number plates before the car actually reached them would have a better chance to stop the vehicle, than they would to get the number from the rear plate after the car had passed them.

The front light could have a green lens, or no lens, just an illuminator over the plate.

As to Crime, Work and Penson Funds

Editor Boston American:

Just thought I would express my sentiments on a few things in general.

One of the readers laid the great increase of crime to the "Bad Weather." If the truth were told, it is the working conditions.

In good, old New England, they call it "A Business Depression," but only the poor are suffering. And, to be candid, I think if they spent less money on Liquor Enforcement and started the industries going the way they should, or if the people would only get as enthusiastic as they did during the presidential election and push the old age pension through, there would be less crime and this world would be a much better and brighter place to live in.

A MOTHER OF NINE.

For Co-operative Action by Cities

Editor Boston American:

The "Federation of Cities" in Massachusetts is now a reality, with Hon. John J. Murphy—Mayor of Somerville as president. Therefore apply it to the jobless situation in the East. The cities of Lynn and Revere should co-operate to put the unemployed to work filling in the salt marshes between these two cities. The marshes may be utilized as house lots or for market gardening.

WILLIAM A. RYAN.

Holds W. C. T. U. Heads at Odds With Name

Editor Boston American.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union. What a high-sounding title! It is neither Christian nor temperance. If it were Christian it would not be sponsoring prohibition rules, laws and suggestions detrimental to Christianity, to liberty, to freedom. If it were temperance it would sponsor light wines and beers; would fight for temperance laws.

How can members of this union adhere to the name temperance when they do not believe in temperance? Rather, they believe in total abstinence. The right to the name is not theirs.

To uphold the 18th Amendment and the Volstead Act is not upholding temperance. Temperance is the use of anything in a moderate degree. No member of the W. C. T. U. should boast of being a member of the above "temperance" union. The W. C. T. U. smacks of hypocrisy. It's about time to change their title to a more representative one in keeping with their preaching.

SOCIETY'S CONVENTIONS GET ROUGH USAGE IN "YOUNG SINNERS"

FUN POKED AT SMUG ELDERS

By NICHOLAS YOUNG

IN the theater, even as in text books, there is tempting interest in the unregenerate deeds of sinners. Therefore, you are bound to give heed to Mr. Elmer Harris' enlivening comedy, "Young Sinners," now the reigning attraction at the long-darkened Lyric. Whatever may have been the secret design of its author, this comedy of a younger generation gone generally dissolute, provides entertainment crowded with action and fairly throbbing with human interest.

* * *

IT may be doubted if the dramatist aimed at anything higher than good box office service, but he surely makes it plain that naughty boys and girls make brighter nights for the playgoer. Here, at least, the sinner gets a full run for his money, while the audience fidgets nervously and hopes for reformation in the long delayed, of course, but certain. Still a current success on Broadway, where it is billed as "passionate comedy," "Young Sinners" comes to the Lyric with new faces, but not lacking in any of the warmth that is popularly supposed to take avid possession of the idle sons and daughters of concentrated wealth.

Nicholas Young

* * *

YOUNGSTERS bent on no good purpose provide excellent human material for characterization, but Mr. Harris cannot resist the temptation to point scorching, condemning finger at delinquent parents. At any rate, a splendid case is built up against our smug and none too admirable elders. But there is vim, vigor and vitality in "Young Sinners"—more than has come to the local stage in the shape of comedy for many long and weary months. It is not altogether a mixture of gin and girls, though there is much of that. A stage fight that puts in motion the regeneration of the play's bad boy sends chills and fever through the house. It is a finishing touch to a magnificent first act.

* * *

OUTSTANDING personalities in the cast are Marjorie Peterson, Hardie Albright and Frank Shannon—each a torch bearer, valiant and vibrating. Miss Peterson, recently of musical comedy, brings unexpected talent and irresistible charm to a role that demands a wide variety of emotion. Mr. Albright, as the lad about whom the comedy was chiefly written, implies in both gesture and speech all that the author could have expected. Mr. Shannon, inured by many seasons of fine service in the theater, is faultless as the rough and ready agent of good living—the doctor that knows sick boys and cures them with a hard fist.

* * *

IF there if any moral in "Young Sinners" the playgoer will discover it on his own account; yet it may be freely recommended to both anxious parents and exuberant sophomores. Beyond that it is just sizzling drama that makes sport of the prescribed conventions.

Kay Johnson to Have Role of "Madame Satan"

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Universal Service Motion Picture Editor

(Copyright, 1930, by Universal Service, Inc.)

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 21—Now don't say "I knew it all the time" when I tell you that Kay Johnson will play the lead in "Madame Satan." Most people were reasonably sure she would have the title role, but when Cecil de Mille kept making test after test until he had photographed 60 Hollywood beauties we didn't know whether Miss Johnson would get the plum or not.

There was talk that although DeMille admired Miss Johnson and thought she was unusually well suited to the role he hesitated to put her in "Madame Satan" because, as she had been the leading woman in "Dynamite," he wanted someone new.

Louella O. Parsons

Whatever he thought at first he is convinced now that Kay Johnson, who has a very good singing voice, is just right for he has signed her to play the title role. As the male lead in "Madame Satan" we have the versatile Reginald Denny.

The music for "Madame Satan," which has been written by Herbert Stothart, Jack King and Elsie Janis, is one of the big features in this first DeMille musical comedy. Wynne Gibson has already been signed for the comedy role and Roland Young for one of the principal male roles.

* * *

CHARLIE KING of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer fame is soon to be on the Warner Brothers' lot. He has been borrowed for the lead in "See Naples and Die." And while Darryl Zanuck hates to brag he couldn't help telling me that this is the first time that Mr. King has been loaned since he sang his way into fame in "The Broadway Melody." Every company in the business has tried to borrow Mr. King who has both personality and a voice but it seems that Warners was the only company able to do the trick.

* * *

FORMER PRESIDENT COOLIDGE and his attractive wife reached Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios just in time to see a Florodora costume scene on Marion Davies' set. The girls in pink chiffon dresses with lace and huge pink hats of pink tulle with feathers, were well worth seeing. The former President seemed to enjoy his motion picture excursion and after meeting Miss Davies he was taken to other sets including one where a beautiful trained dance ensemble in "The March of Time" was in progress. Harry Rapf acted as director and Louis B. Mayer, in the capacity of host, saw that the Coolidges had comfortable seats. Will Hays was host of this party which made a tour of all the studios. Mrs. Coolidge is much more slender and younger than she looks in her photographs and everywhere in Hollywood the motion picture people spoke of her great charm. In fact, it has often been said that Mrs. Coolidge is the favorite American heroine of the newsreel.

* * *

SNAPSHOTS of Hollywood collected at random: Lila Lee, Lew Cody and Jackie Coogan and his dad among those looking for a corned beef and cabbage dinner and finding it at Bob Murphy's cafe, recently opened. Alice Joyce in a smart blue spring suit, and Dorothy Mackaill, also wearing blue, lunching at the Embassy. Marjorie White and Eddie Tierney stopping in at Henry's for an after-the-theater sandwich. Elsie Janis and "Ma" applauding Kreutzberg and Georgi in their weird dances at the Philharmonic Auditorium. Dolores Del Rio with the attentive Larry Kent at the same place. Norma Shearer shopping frantically for her wardrobe for "Let Us Be Gay," which starts in 10 days. Sam Hardy, Fritzi Ridgeway and Nancy Welford among those present at a performance of "Ladies of the Jury." Billie Dove wearing a new sable coat. Robert Woolsey having the pleasant sensation of seeing an old contract torn up and a new one handed him for more money. That's all today.

BEBE DANIELS BACK IN TOWN

ALL those attending the last show at the Keith-Albee Theater tonight are invited by the management to remain and see the special preview of Bebe Daniels' new singing play, "Love Comes Along," which will be given immediately following the regular show.

Bebe Daniels, the heroine of "Rio Rita," makes her second appearance on the audible screen in "Love Comes Along," which will start its regular run tomorrow at the Keith-Albee. This time she is a member of a show troupe which has been stranded at a remote port. She meets a swaggering young sailor from a tramp schooner and a love affair results.

FAMED REVUE TAKES MET HONORS

By HARLEIGH SCHULTZ

NANCY CARROLL and Richard Arlen teamed up in "Dangerous Paradise," on screen, and the superb "Chauve Souris," on stage, are the features of the Metropolitan's program for the new week. Even though Nikita Balieff's famous revue be in tabloid form it would take a mighty good film to snatch the first honors; so "Chauve Souris" places itself on top. It has plenty of good features. Mr. Balieff himself is on hand and there is "The Parade of the Wooden Soldiers" to charm just as it did on the "legit" at $5.50 per seat.

* * *

THE picture brings the South Seas again to the fore. Miss Carroll, always sweet, is seen as a member of a girls' orchestra playing at a hotel conducted by no less a celebrity than Warner Oland. The orchestra manager, Clarence Wilson, and also Mr. Oland fall for Miss Carroll's charms and these villains pursue her until the lassie is forced to flee. Richard Arlen stands by as the hero, with a yacht in the harbor. Upon it Miss Carroll may sail to a nearby island, where life is honest and peaceful. But it must be as a stowaway; for Mr. Arlen is embittered by an unfortunate love affair and has become a hermit. Miss Carroll is discovered on the yacht, taken to the islet cabin and told she can remain only overnight. Foul deeds then follow; desperadoes, back on the bigger island, slay Oland. Then they bear down upon the smaller isle; here the heroine is assailed. Mr. Arlen comes to the rescue, and in the end everything comes out all right for the central figures. Somehow, love does always find the way, in the films.

* * *

AS often happens, the villains are better actors than the upright folk. So the honors fall to Mr. Oland, Francis McDonald, Gustav von Seyffertitz and Mr. Wilson.

* * *

"CHAUVE SOURIS" alone is worth more than the price of admission. The tabloid version lacks nothing in class and affords topnotch entertainment. Mr. Balieff hasn't undergone any change; still the masterful man is he, a real showman who has wares and knows how to display them. "Chauve Souris" is worth seeing.

Midnight Bow for "Happy Days" at Keiths

THE newest Fox production, "Happy Days," forecast as the runner-up of "The Cock-Eyed World," will be given its premier tonight at the new B. F. Keith's, at a pre-holiday midnight show. The program starts at 11:30 p. m.

There are said to be 100 stars of the screen and stage in "Happy Days" including Janet Gaynor, Charles Farrell, Victor McLaglen, Edmund Lowe, William Collier, Sr., Jim Corbett, George Olsen and his music, El Brendel and scores of others. "Happy Days" is not a mere revue of favorites who appear for a moment before the camera, but is a story with all the above named stars participating in the plot, it is announced.

One of the outstanding numbers presents Victor McLaglen and Edmund Lowe in a mirth-provoking sketch called "Vic and Eddie." Charles Farrell and Janet Gaynor present a charming number called "We'll Build a Little World of Our Own."

'ROBIN HOOD' NEVER OLD FASHIONED

OPERETTA IN BOSTON 40 YEARS AGO

By EUGENE COWLES

Creator of the role of Will Scarlet in "Robin Hood," now being revived at the Majestic.

TRULY, it hardly seems 40 years since this De Koven masterpiece had its first Boston hearing, at the old Music Hall. Times have changed, tastes have changed, yet after hearing "Robin Hood" sung at the Majestic the other evening I have not the slightest hesitation in saying that were it to be staged for the first time tomorrow as a new work it would be assured notable success.

* * *

THERE are values in score and book, which, in my opinion, are not often encountered. De Koven crowded the work with a flow of melody of unusual richness, bordering close from time to time to operatic values. He had an unusual personnel in mind when he composed "Robin Hood" and wrote it up to the high standards that the group known as the Bostonians represented. The organization had more than its full quota of male talent, fine, upstanding fellows of splendid musical ability. Hence the female roles are more or less secondary, with two exceptions, and the two, Maid Marian and Allan-a-Dale, are given no such vocal opportunities as the men.

Eugene Cowles

The reason for men dominating the old Bostonians lay in the peculiar circumstances behind its organization. Originally the Boston Ideal Opera Company, the organization drew for its talent upon the lyceum stage, at that time the principal source of esthetic entertainment. The lyceum consisted of lecturers and musicians, mostly singers, and success was quite as dependent upon striking personality as upon the mental or musical feast provided. Such a system was productive of strong personalities and splendid artistry. Men naturally achieved the outstanding positions because of the hardships of travel under the then existent conditions, and the difficulties that were encountered in poorly equipped halls, church auditoriums, etc.

The notable group of veterans of that period who finally were assembled under the banner of the Bostonians possessed ability, imagination, courage, fortitude and endurance. Quite naturally a work especially prepared for them by a master of De Koven's ability reflected some of these qualities in an unusual degree, and had a rugged directness not often encountered in musical works. The public that supported the Bostonians demanded a great deal for its money in solid substantialities, and had little patience with piffle.

De Koven's composition exactly fitted the bill. Romance, humor and stirring melody crowd both book and score. Hence its great success. Nor was that success immediate. When, however, "Robin Hood" established itself as a favorite, it was on such a sound foundation that it has lasted throughout four decades. And I would be little surprised if the work should continue to hold its place in public esteem for as long to come.

The historical character of the episode around which the book is written, and the period, combine to make it proof against time. It never can become old fashioned, and the sturdy strength of the music presents the same aspect.

I cannot recall a work in this field which in so great a measure is proof against changing times and changing tastes, and I do not expect ever to witness or hear of a better operetta.

It is sad that there are so few of us left to whom "Robin Hood" presents its great direct and personal sentimental appeal. Contrary to general belief there are only two of the original cast left. Marie Stone MacDonald and myself. The rest have passed on, one after another, although erroneous reports continue to find circulation that this one or that one is living in retirement here or there.

"Bishop Murder Case" Extended for Holiday

At Loew's Orpheum the show tonight will be continuous until midnight. The extension of the program is due to Manager Victor Morris' desire to give patrons extra entertainment in connection with the holiday. The feature film is "The Bishop Murder Case," and there is a stellar vaudeville bill, consisting of Carl Freed and orchestra, and other acts; and as a special added attraction Caites Brothers.

Hub College Students in Einstein Theory Film

Among the schools and colleges participating in the presentation of "Einstein Theory" film, to be presented under the direction of the Artkino Guild for three days, beginning next Monday at the Fine Arts Theater, are members of the Harvard Mathematical Club, Technology, Tufts Mathematical Club, the Lesley School and the Sargent School of Cambridge, and students and professors from Boston University.

ARMY COMEDY AT NETOCO

"TROOPERS THREE," Tiffany special, is the feature film offered in the pre-holiday midnight show program, at the Modern, the Beacon and the Egyptian at Brighton, tonight.

Among those expected to be present at the premiere at midnight tonight at the Egyptian will be 65 members of Troop B, 110th Cavalry, under command of Col. Dana T. Gallup and Capt. R. E. Anthony, in addition to the following aides: First Sergt. George E. Cobb, Sergt. Charles A. Edwards and Sergt. Edwin O. Carlson.

On Monday night only, the 110th Cavalry Band, under the leadership of Chester E. Whiting, will give a concert at the Egyptian during the performance.

STATE STAGE STAR SLID TO STARDOM

BACK in schooldays, when her blonde locks were bound up in a beribboned pigtail, they used to call her "copycat." For Venita Gould, at Loew's State this week, giving impressions of Chevalier and of Helen Kane, started recording her "impressions" before her kindergarten days were over. With a borrowed derby, a voluminous topcoat and her father's instructions, the little Iowan learned to sing and dance and impersonate. The Goulds moved to Minneapolis and Venita was the life of every party and church social for miles around.

Venita Gould

The next family trek was to Denver, where the big chance came. Road shows in those days were not the mass production affairs they are today and word went ahead for recruits to augment the traveling troupes with local talent. "The Jay Circus" came to town, and one of its sets was a Coney Island panorama, with hand-painted surf, a couple of beach umbrellas and a sand slide. Venita's assignment was to slide down the chute!

That was the start of a career that won for her a bright spot in vaudeville.

PARK HOLIDAY BILL SNAPPY

THE Park will have a midnight showing tonight of two first-run film features, "Dames Ahoy" and "The Mounted Stranger." The screening starts at 11:15 p. m. and is arranged as a pre-holiday event. Glenn Tryon stars in "Dames Ahoy," an all-talking, singing and laughing picture, with Otis Harlan, Gertrude Astor, Helen Wright, and Eddie Gribbon in the cast.

A millionaire or a pauper—

A Paramount New Show World Picture

PARAMOUNT'S sensational screen drama of that dangerous, desperate Broadway that lurks behind the glare of the white lights. A Broadway where grim-faced men gather in guarded rooms. A Broadway where death awaits the double-crosser, where thousands are lost on the turn of a card; where women weep and wait, while men risk their lives. A Broadway where men would die rather than tell its secrets.

Real, thrilling, exciting! The real low-down on the stupendous operations of the world's most fearless men.

"The Big House"

Wallace Beery has been selected for the leading role in M-G-M's "The Big House," a story of prison life, to be directed by George Hill. It is an original by Frances Marion.

Joan Bennett in Film

Joan Bennett has been borrowed by Fox from United Artists to appear in "In Love With Love," which Hamilton McFadden will direct as a talker. The story is an adaptation of Vincent Lawrence's stage play.

Kae English of "Show Boat" is shown wearing the MEDIUM BOB. She knows how PROPER CARE makes lovely hair more beautiful.

Quickest way to give Hair new Life and Lustre

THE way modern hair dressers accentuate your hair by lovely lines and contours makes it important to keep the hair in perfect condition.

Now, millions know the quickest way to give the hair new life and lustre, to bring out its natural color, is with Danderine. It is so easy to use; you simply moisten your brush with it each time you arrange your hair.

Danderine dissolves the crust of dandruff, stops falling hair, puts the scalp in the pink of condition. It helps the hair grow long, silky, abundant; gives it more lustre than brilliantine. It makes the hair easy-to-arrange; holds it in place.

Customs Change In Medicine, Too

The Trend of Modern Medical Practice Is Away from Needless "Dosing"

Back in the old "horse and buggy" days, Vicks VapoRub was the pioneer of a new idea in the treatment of colds. The custom then was to give large doses of internal medicines for colds and almost every human ailment. Vicks originated the better method of treating colds without "dosing."

Modern External Treatment

From the very first, Vicks has been appreciated, especially by mothers of young children, because it checks colds without the risk of upsetting delicate stomachs. Of course, it is equally effective for adults.

Just rubbed on, Vicks acts through the skin like a poultice or plaster, and, at the same time, it gives off medicated vapors which are inhaled direct to the inflamed air-passages.

In Over 60 Countries

Today the whole trend of medical practice is away from needless "dosing," and millions of families in more than 60 countries use Vicks for all cold troubles.

To keep pace with this ever-growing demand, the figures in the familiar Vick slogan are again being changed. First announced when Vicks reached "17 Million Jars Used Yearly," later raised to "21 Million," there are now, "Over 26 Million Jars Used Yearly" in the United States alone.

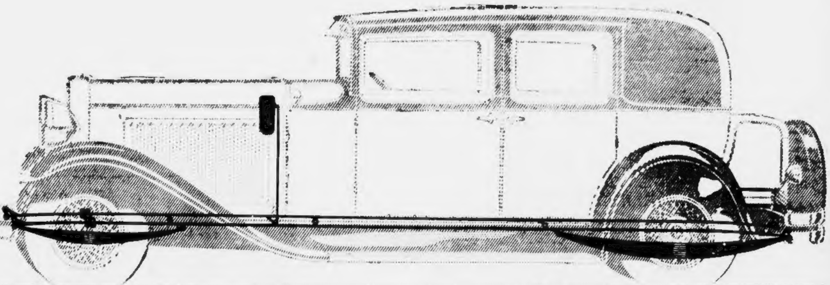
THE 1930 NASH "400"



NASH is the car with the OIL CUSHIONED CHASSIS

SUPERIOR PERFORMANCE!

TWIN-IGNITION EIGHT
TWIN-IGNITION SIX
. . . SINGLE SIX

EVERY Nash "400" model, including those of lowest price, is now equipped with a modern system of centralized chassis lubrication. ¶ Nash "400" chassis bearings ride on a cushion of oil. Not just once in a while, or for a day or so after you happen to put your car in a service station for greasing. But every day, and without the bother of service station attention, the "400" chassis gives you the riding smoothness and the longer chassis life that only perfect chassis lubrication can give. ¶ And every Twin-Ignition Eight and Six model is now built with lifetime lubricated springs—lubrication sealed inside flexible steel spring covers—permanent protection against rust, squeaks, wear and ineffectual spring action. ¶ The combination of centralized lubrication and lifetime lubricated springs creates an oil-cushioned chassis—another reason for the superior performance that distinguishes the 1930 Nash "400!"

News and Gossip of Greater Boston Society

NOTED EVENTS ON MARCH CALENDAR

SOCIETY put her stamp of approval upon the most elaborate show the Eastern Dog Club has ever staged when the lights went up on hundreds of canine aristocrats gathered in the Boston Garden. Never has such perfection of detail, from the viewpoint of the spectator, marked the progress of a dog show. The enthusiasm of the smart set was so high that boxes remained empty throughout the evening while prideful owners and their guests promenaded between judging rings and exhibition benches. Informality was the keynote of the gathering. Mrs. George S. West, always an important hostess at horse and dog shows, had as her guest Mr. and Mrs. Willat of New York. Mrs. K. Allerton Cushman, Miss Elizabeth Loring, Mrs. P. Stackpole, and Raymond Tuckerman were among others noted at the ringsides where favorites were being judged. Miss Loring's dogs were among the consistent prize winners that kept interest high.

WITH FOUR IMPORTANT balls and a house dance already announced on the March social calendar the gay whirl before the lenten season begins is well on its way. The month is to be ushered in with a dinner dance given by Mrs. John Richardson, Sr., at her home on Hammond st., Chestnut Hill, in honor of Miss Hope Richardson of Readville, a debutante of this season. This will be an informal house dance, without ushers, for a large group of the debutante set. Many smart dinners will precede it. Three days later comes the ever popular and the outstanding costume ball of the season when the Copley Society has its annual Mardi Gras festival. On Friday, March 14, comes the junior supper-dance followed by the senior supper-dance on March 21, and the community health benefit ball, in charge of Mrs. James Lawrence of Milton, on March 28.

THE BEAUTY AND ORIGINALITY of the costumes which have made the Copley Society balls a notable event each season will be in evidence this year with effective costumes made possible by the modernistic background of the beautiful Salle Moderne at the Hotel Statler, where it will be held on Tuesday evening, March 4. The committee is specially urging striking color combinations and new designs suggested by the modernistic motif, and to this end F. Winthrop Pierce, noted water color artist and vice-president of the society, has prepared some very effective designs for those wishing costume ideas, and these are being exhibited at the office of the society on Newbury st.

MRS. CYRUS DALLIN, MRS. THOMAS J. MOTLEY, Miss Grace Nichols, Mrs. Calvin G. Page and Mrs. Benjamin F. Pitman are new patronesses added to the already impressive list interested in the success of this costume ball. Ruby Newman will furnish the dance music. Some tables overlooking the dance floor are still available with ticket prices including the supper. The proceeds are for the building fund for the Copley Society.

AT HER HOME IN R ST., Washington, D. C., tomorrow, Miss Nancy Hellen will become the bride of Walter Gierasch of Concord in a simple ceremony, attended only by members of the immediate families. The bride will be gowned in her traveling costume and will be attended only by her sister, Mrs. Thomas Bowers of New York, as matron of honor. Henry Gierasch will act as best man for his brother. Boston relatives who went on for the wedding were Mrs. George B. Gierasch and his fiancee, Miss Sally Wambolt of Brookline, John Belt and Mrs. William Burnham of Brookline. Miss Dorothea Gierasch, who was in Philadelphia, will also be in attendance. After a short wedding trip the couple will make their home in Concord.

A BEVY OF JUNIOR LEAGUE members, headed by Miss Juliet Greene, will usher at the forthcoming benefit performance to be given by Doris Humphreys and Charles Weidman at the Opera House on Friday evening, March 7. This group includes the Misses Eugenia and Anne Frothingham, Elizabeth Hovey, Martha Wigglesworth, Ruth Bayliss, Elsie Read, Ethel Grew, Jean Proctor, Katharine Robinson, Elizabeth Wheeler, Rosamond Rust, Evelyn Cummings, Dorothy Preston, Rachel Coolidge, Stella Gray, Olga Monks, Madeleine Jonckheere, Gertrude Peabody, Dorothea Newman, Grace Cushing, Rebecca Hallowell, Ellen Ware, Charlotte Valentine, Helen Morrow and Mary Cleveland.

"FLOWER GIRLS" FOR that occasion when the Ellis Memorial will be benefited, are under the supervision of Mrs. Benjamin D. Crowninshield. These fair venders of flowers will be Miss Evelyn Windeler, Miss Cynthia Harwood, Miss Margaret Westwood, Miss Rosamond Holton, Miss Esther Grew, Miss Helen Streeter, Miss Leslie Grinnell, Miss Helena Thompson, Mrs. Hollis French, Jr., Mrs. George P. Baker, Jr., and Mrs. Everett Morss, Jr. Also Miss Mary Curtis, who is on the committee of arrangements with Mrs. Russel Sullivan, Mrs. R. H. Stevenson, Mrs. Arthur Bell, Mrs. Eliot Guild, Jr., Mrs. Stephen Sleeper, Mrs. Bertram W. B. Greene, Miss Greene, Miss Windeler and Mrs. Crowninshield.

MUCH ENTERTAINING will surround the event when Miss Humphreys and Mr. Weidman appear in dance recital for the first time in Boston. MISS NANCY ADAMS WILL be head usher at the next Wednesday morning musicale at the Statler ballroom when Beniamino Gigli, Metropolitan Opera tenor, will be the guest artist. Her assistants include Miss Betty Hobbs, Miss Ethel Grew, Miss Rosamond Musgrave, Miss Nancy Loring, Miss Margery Fay, Miss Rose Bryant, Miss Peggy Read, Miss Carol Goodale, Miss Mianne Palfrey, Miss Sarah Bradlee, Miss Susan Bradlee and Mrs. Oliver Rodman. Mrs. Edward B. Richardson will have charge of the ushers.

AT THE GIGLI CONCERT, arranged by the Boston School of Occupational Therapy, Mrs. Joseph H. Pratt of Brookline and Mrs. Harry B. Duane of Beacon st. will preside at the coffee urns in the hour preceding the musicale. They will be assisted by Mrs. Harry B. Duane, Jr., Mr. Eliot Spalding and Miss Mary Gagnon. At the ballroom door will be Mrs. John D. Adams, Mrs. Frederick C. Bacon, Mrs. Winthrop S. Jameson of Belmont, Mrs. Frederic W. Mattheis, Mrs. Charles T. Gilbert, Mrs. Wilbur Grant, Mrs. Benjamin Wilcox, Miss Elizabeth Leland, Mrs. A. Barr Comstock of Dedham and Mrs. Howard E. Plimpton of Norwood supervising.

IN CHARGE OF TICKET TAKERS will be Mrs. Harold F. McNeil of Chestnut Hill, who will be assisted by Mrs. Prescott Bigelow, Mrs. Parker Converse, Mrs. George Herbert Crocker, Jr., Mrs. Julian T. Leonard, Mrs. Charles Russell, Mrs. Samuel S. Stevens, Mrs. Francis W. Capper, Mrs. David Newell of Brookline and Mrs. Hatherly Foster, Jr., of Milton.

THAT PORTION OF SOCIETY affiliated with the Newport colony is eagerly anticipating the first Beaux Arts ball, to be given at that fashion rendezvous on the evening of April 21. Mrs. Muriel Church is among those active in promoting the ball, the first of its kind ever sponsored by the Newport Art Association. Mrs. Church will be one of the many dinner hostesses on that evening. Mrs. Maude Howe Elliott, whose interest in art is well known to her Boston friends and a life size painting of whom hangs in the portrait gallery at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, is another who is active on the committee. Mrs. Elliott is a daughter of the late Julia Ward Howe.

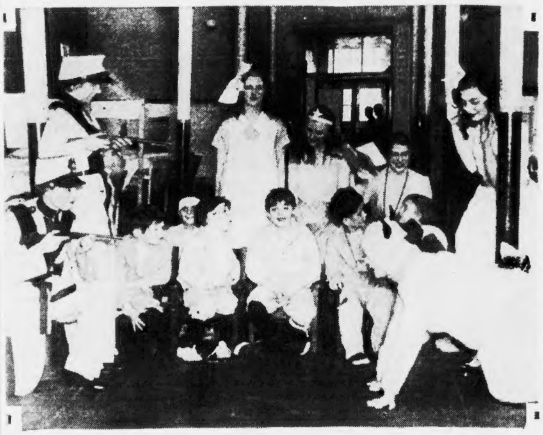
Rebecca Thomas — Miss Susan Wigglesworth — Miss Virginia Taylor — Miss Susan Bradlee — Miss Mabel Hatheway



Peggy Hinckley — Miss Sarah Bradlee

Miss Peggy Hinckley, Miss Rebecca Thomas, Miss Susan Wigglesworth, Miss Virginia Taylor, Miss Susan Bradlee, Miss Mabel Hatheway and Miss Sarah Bradlee are shown amusing little patients at City Hospital with the Junior League play, "When Toys Talk," which they presented for the first time at that institution. The seven members of the cast have given the play at several children's institutions during the week and at each place left happiness with the little folks.

YOUNG PIANIST IN CHARMING PROGRAM

By MOSES SMITH

Unique pianist is Mischa Levitzki who was heard in a concert at Jordan Hall last night. Perhaps he is paying the penalty for having become famous too young. For he has years of concert experience as a "celebrity," at an age when others are still dreaming of success.

This mild-mannered, excessively unconcerned young man sits and plays in a manner to make the gods envy. Technical difficulties do not exist for him.

His program opened with two pieces in which an air of detachment was not out of place—a Sonata in A major by Scarlatti and another in the same key by Mozart. Both were played with a minimum of "expression." While the Scarlatti benefited by this treatment, there were times in the Mozart when one would have wished for more subtle shading, for greater plasticity in rhythm. The last movement—Alla Turca—was, however, played so simply and so charmingly that one forgot how hackneyed it is in the drawing-room.

Bach's Chromatic Fantasy and Fugue, Schumann's Symphonic Studies (which have been played here too much this season) and seven pieces of Chopin completed a program in which the most "modern" number was almost 100 years old. Even in this romantic music Levitzki remained calm.

The fugue was presented in beautiful clarity of design. The Schumann studies were treated symphonically, their structure superbly developed. Even poetic Chopin had an architectural character that many pianists overlook. But this, after all, is one side of the musical medal. Another side expression of emotions in tones, was almost entirely hidden in Levitzki's performance.

BRANGWYN ART 'UNSUITABLE'?

London, Feb. 21 (AP)—What may develop into one of the greatest art sensations England has known in years was hinted in The Daily Mail today. The paper said it understood the Royal Commission of Fine Arts was not satisfied that the huge mural painting which Frank Brangwyn, royal academician, has been doing for the House of Lords is suitable for its surroundings.

Brangwyn, whose fame is worldwide and who has done many striking pieces in the United States, has been working three years on this picture for the royal gallery of the House of Lords. He has another three years work to do.

Five sections of the painting were put in place recently and the royal commission viewed them. The commission has prepared a report which thus far has not been published, but the Mail understands the commission disapproved, although it did not make any reflection on the artistic merits of the work.

Athletic Club Ball

The Webster Social Athletic Club of the Michael Angelo school center will hold its anual ball on Monday evening at the Center hall in Chatter st.

BYRD WILL BE HOME IN JUNE

New York, Feb. 21 (AP)—The ships of the Byrd Antarctic expedition, bringing Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and his men home from their base on the Ross ice barrier, are expected to arrive here about the first week in June.

The time of arrival is estimated from the length of time it took the ships to make the voyage into the Antarctic in the autumn of 1928.

The barque City of New York, bearing the members of the expedition, is expected to reach the ice pack in the Ross Sea about Sunday. The length of time it will take her to work her way through the ice depends on the width of the pack, which at this time of year usually is about 100 miles wide. Her last trip took a day through the ice.

The City of New York and the steamer Elinor Bolling, the other ships of the expedition, will proceed to Dunedin, New Zealand, 2300 miles from Little America. They are expected to reach that port in about 21 days.

This Modern World

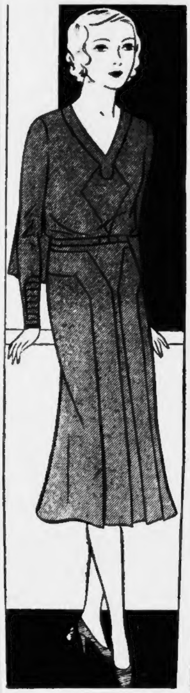
A Department Devoted to Fashions, Decoration and Social Customs



Important New Trends Seen in Youthful Spring Modes

SPRING is going to come early to the campus this year for all the smart young things are so enthusiastic about the new fashions that they are already eagerly heralding the first models to appear. So much has been said about the youthfulness which the higher waistline has imported to even the most sophisticated creations that it is only natural that it should feature all the first showings of the junior mode. And it is surprising how the short skirted viewpoint of modern young ladies of fashion has been changed—and seemingly with so little difficulty.

For daytime, skirts cling to three and one-half to four inches below the knee lengths. Waists are generally high either belted or tucked and the flare is much seen. Two important trends which promise great vogue are already started on an early career—one is the woolen cape dress and the other is the "nipped-in" suit.

A PERFECT example of the cape dress in wool is sketched here. It not only sponsors the approved waist-length cape in the back but it also strikingly emphasizes the outstanding points of the silhouette. The skirt is softly flared with a high beltline and the blouse and long sleeves are intricately trimmed with self strappings of the fabric. A dress that will smartly see one through any informal daytime activity.

Nowhere is the popularity of the casual suit more pronounced than upon the campus, or in the wardrobe of the young high school girl. Its swagger casualness and tailored lines are ideal for the daytime costume of the busy young junior.

ALTHOUGH all the foremost suit modes seen in older fashions are observed in youthful wardrobes as well, the suit which is most approved is the one which has a short, "nipped-in" jacket. The suit shown here is a good example of this style

Red Sox and Braves All Ready to Hop Off for South

TRIBE GOING TOMORROW; SOX SUNDAY

By JOE CASHMAN

THE balmy breezes which the Hub has been enjoying for the past few days will soon be experienced daily by our noble ball players.

Tomorrow, the Braves leave for St. Petersburg; Sunday, the Sox depart for Pensacola.

The Braves special will pull out of the South Station at 4:30 p. m. on the morrow with Secretary Ed Cunningham, three players, two trainers, two royal rooters and a party of scribes aboard. It is due in the Sunshine City bright and early Monday morning.

The advance guard of the Sox, consisting of Secretary Phil Troy, six players, several fans and war correspondents, is scheduled to leave the same terminal at 12:30 p. m. on Sunday and to arrive in Pensacola on Tuesday morning.

Catcher Bill Cronin of Newton and Pitchers Alonzo Smith and John Clough, both products of Maine semipro ranks, are the players who will hop off with the Tribe.

Pitchers Danny MacFayden of Somerville, Eldon Hallamore of Brockton, Franklin Milliken of Walpole and Ray Dobens of Nashua, N. H., Catcher Ashjornson of Concord and Outfielder Bill Barrett of Cambridge, will be in the Sox group.

BOTH contingents will increase in size on the way South.

Pitcher Johnny Cooney will join the Tribal party at Providence, while Catcher Al Spohrer will put in his appearance at Philadelphia.

Manager Heinie Wagner will join the Sox at Albany. So will Catchers Charley Berry and Eddie Connolly and Pitcher Pat Simmons.

At Columbus, Coach Jack McCallister and Pitcher Robert Kline are scheduled to be picked up, while Johnny Heving is due to report at Cincinnati. Others will be found at Louisville.

The remainder of the players of the two clubs will go direct to camp from their respective homes.

Only the battery men have been ordered to be on hand for the initial workouts, but each club will have some fielders on hand who want to get started early. There will be 27 Sox and 17 Braves present to answer the initial roll-call, according to present dope.

Neither Manager Bill McKechnie of the Braves nor Manager Heinie Wagner of the Sox is planning on losing any time, each having a practice session scheduled a few hours after the players arrive in camp.

FIVE of the Sox signed contracts on the eve of departure. The quintet includes Pitchers Danny MacFayden, Frank Mulrooney and Robert Kline, and Infielders Otto Miller and Ernest Holman.

MacFayden came down from Hebron, Me., where he has been coaching hockey at Hebron academy all winter, to personally hand his contract to President Bob Quinn and to inform the boss that he is in great shape and anxious to get started tossing the agate again.

He also admitted that Edgar Carroll had succeeded him as the Beau Brummel of the Sox, and stated that he wouldn't even take a trunk away with him this season.

Winchester C. C. to Hold Ice Carnival

A winter sports carnival will be held tomorrow at the Winchester Country Club. Bowen Tufts, chairman of the winter sports committee, has arranged a splendid program.

Fancy and funny figure skating is the feature of the carnival. M. A. Fletcher of the Malden Y has comedy skating acts prepared. He has a number of assistants, who will help him in putting on an attractive set of stunts, from 10 to 12:30 a. m.

J. A. Tower of the Boston Skating Club is in charge of another group of capable figure and speed skaters. Some of the best amateurs now on the runners will appear with this troupe.

In case the weather prevents the presentation of the outdoor events, Mr. Fletcher has arranged to put on a winter circus in the dance hall of the Country Club at 10:00 a. m.

Curling and other winter sports round out the program. The carnival should be one of the finest of the winter sports season of Greater Boston.

Harvard to Meet University Six

Harvard hockey team will make its last appearance in Boston until the second game of the Yale series two weeks hence, when it meets University Club in the Arena tomorrow night.

MR. BOSTON
—by—
JACK CONWAY

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 21—Mr. Boston called for a wheel chair, pushed by a young colored youth who was mounted on a bicycle, as he left his hotel here en route for the exclusive Oasis Club, where Phil Scott and Tommy Loughran were to box before who's whosit in the social register, the veteran felt a common taxicab would not be a proper conveyance to take one to the swanky Oasis Club.

Nick Flatley, Dave Egan and Charley Buck noticed Mr. Boston seated in a wheel chair and just so as to keep in the social swim, each hired a chariot.

Jack Conway

"Where could I get a drink if I happened to be thirsty?" Mr. Boston asked his human motor as they breezed along the main street of Palm Beach.

"What kind of a drink do you want?" queried the colored youth.

"I didn't say I wanted a drink," parried Mr. Boston. "But I would like to know where I could get one if I happened to get sunstroke or something."

"There's a place up the street where we boys usually take our customers when they get sunstroke," replied the youth. "They have everything in this place."

IN due time Mr. Boston was deposited in front of the Oasis Club.

It was necessary for the veteran to present his invitation "for tea" to get past the entrance.

"This way to the patio," said an attendant easily.

"What does that mean," demanded Mr. Boston.

"The garden," said Steve Mahoney.

"Yeah!" sighed Nick Flatley.

"You had better call it garden in your story Steve, or none of your readers will know what you're writing about."

"Guess I'll call it the back yard," interrupted Charley Buck.

"It is a classy spot anyway," went on Nick Flatley, "notice the flossy colors on the ropes of the ring, the tables covered with food, the tea pots and I suppose somebody in the place must have one of those Christmas flasks?"

"THE girls were dolled up in their classiest sport clothes, while a regiment of millionaires cluttered up the ringside seats and the chairs at the tables on the lawn.

"Tommy Loughran first boxed four rounds. He was given a fine hand.

"The regular announcer declared Sir Oliver Duncan of Merry Old England would introduce Phil Scott, the British heavyweight champion, who meets Jack Sharkey in Miami on February 27."

"PHIL SCOTT went to war for his country when a boy of 15," said Sir Oliver. "He enlisted in the marines. At the close of the war he started boxing. Five years ago he won the British heavyweight championship and has never been defeated in a title bout.

"I feel Scott will make a creditable showing against Jack Sharkey, the American champion, on February 27, in a bout to determine who shall meet Max Schmeling, the German champion, for the world's title in New York in June."

The audience applauded Sir Oliver's remarks.

"SCOTT then boxed five rounds with his sparring partners, after which he had a cup of tea.

"It was by far the most Ritzy boxing exhibition ever held. I noticed John J. Raskob, Matt Brush, James I. Bush, William F. Carey and a flock of other American millionaires hobnobbing with British nobility. The fight racket is making pals of everybody."

"MISS ELEANOR EARLY of Wellesley, who writes very good novels, wanted me to have tea, but I asserted my rights as one of the old school and refused the invitation.

"Anyhow, it was a colorful gathering, a little different from the ordinary training camp grind.

Then those wheelchairs come in handy, especially after you drop in at one of those places where they have the stuff that is good for sunstroke."

HARVARD IS CHOICE TO WIN MEET

SIX winners in the 1929 triangular track and field meet among Harvard, Dartmouth and Cornell will compete in the 1930 games in the Boston Garden on Monday night.

Sam Levering and Frank Weiss of Cornell, Hugh Alcorn of Dartmouth, Art Watkins of Harvard and Dave Cobb of Harvard, a double winner, will be defending their 1929 honors.

Harvard won last year, scoring 57½ points, while Dartmouth scored 37 2-3 points and Cornell 31 points. The Crimson is a slight choice to repeat Monday.

Cornell retains the highest percentage of 1929 point scorers. Twenty-one of Cornell's 31 points a year ago will be represented by athletes in the games. Harvard will have athletes representing 16 2-3 points.

Although Cornell is given little chance of winning the development of 15 to 20 points will place the Ithacans in a position to battle for top honors.

CAPTAIN BACK

Cornell retains Captain Treman, who was third in the record-breaking 600-yard run won by Gerry Swope of Dartmouth a year ago, Sam Levering, who won the two-mile from Jim Reid of Harvard, intercollegiate champion; Lawrence Levy, who was second to Captain Anderson of Cornell in the shotput; John Wickham, 210-pound high jumper, and Alfred Hoppenstedt, both of whom tied for second place in the high jump; Frank Weiss, who won the 35-pound weight throw, and Everett Collier, who figured in a triple tie for first place in the pole vault.

Dartmouth retains George Stevens who was second in the 50-yard dash, Hugh Alcorn, who won the 45-yard high hurdles, and Mal Pratt, who, with Alcorn, scored one-third of a point when he figured in a triple tie for third place in the 300-yard run. Dartmouth also has Leon Andrews, who placed second in both the 600 and the 1000-yard runs in the last meet, Roger Donner, who took a third place in the broad jump, and Captain George Crosier, who was third in the weight throw.

DOUBLE WINNER

Dave Cobb accounted for ten Harvard points a year ago when he won the 1000-yard and mile runs. Warren Rowe took a second place in the broad jump, and Dunlap a second place in the pole vault. Art Watkins of Harvard won the 50-yard dash, and Eddie McGrath was third. Captain Tom Mason tied for first in the 300-yard run, and Vin Hennessy figured in the 300-yard run third-place triple tie with Pratt and Alcorn.

The meet this year promises to develop exceptional competition. Records are slated to be broken in many events. It is felt that the remarkable dash field will equal the mark of 5 3-5s for the 50-yard dash. The 300-yard field should lower the mark of 33 4-5s made by Tom Mason and George Tupper of Harvard in 1929.

The 300-yard race will be run in three heats with staggered lines, and points will be awarded on fastest times returned.

HARVARD HOPES IN 'TRI' MEET

TOM MASON
OSCAR SUTERMEISTER

Mason, captain and sprinter, and Sutermeister, pole-vaulter, are expected to add many points to Harvard's total in the annual track meet with Dartmouth and Cornell at the Boston Garden next Monday night. The Crimson won the meet last year and is a favorite to repeat.

SAMMY FULLER DROPS SUIT

Sammy Fuller, North End boxer, has dropped his suit against the Arena A. C. Fuller was suing the Arena A. C. for non-payment for his services the night he fought Jack Zerambey at Fenway Park, last summer. Fuller lost the bout on a foul and his purse was held up.

Joseph Scalponeti, assistant district attorney of Suffolk county, attorney for Fuller, filed a notice with clerk of Superior court to non-suit this case when reached for trial.

Name Yacht Team to Race in Bermuda

New York, Feb. 21 (AP)—The United States team of six meter yachts which is to meet the Royal Bermuda Yacht Club in an international series early in April has been named. Representing America will be the Heron, owned by Cornelius and Paul Shields of the Larchmont Yacht Club; the Clytie owned by J. S. Johnson and the Thalia, owned by Louis G. Young of the American Yacht Club.

American Readers to Get Best Training Camp News

BOSTON'S Braves and Red Sox start South for spring training this week-end; the Tribe tomorrow and the Fenway flock on Sunday.

The Boston Evening American will have a baseball expert with each team to keep its readers supplied with the latest and best news from the camps.

Nick Flatley

Joe Cashman

Nick Flatley, the noted sports editor of the American, will join the Braves at St. Petersburg immediately after the Sharkey-Scott bout at Miami. He is a nationally-known sports authority, and a real student of baseball who knows what is of interest to the fans and writes it most entertainingly.

Joe Cashman, capable and experienced recorder of diamond doings, will depart with the advance guard of the Red Sox for Pensacola on Sunday. He, too, knows the sport thoroughly and is intimately acquainted with the players.

No better training camp stories will come out of the Southland than will be sent daily by the American's observers. No fan worthy of the name can afford to miss even one of them.

Make certain of receiving the latest and best news of the Braves and Red Sox by ordering the Boston Evening American at once.

CHRISTNER VS. SCHAAF IN MAIN GO OF ARGONNE A. A. RING SHOW TONIGHT

DETERMINED to settle his long-standing feud with Ernie Schaaf, hard-hitting Hub sailor, once and for all, K. O. Christner, Akron, O., heavyweight, will go after a knockout victory tonight, when the pair clash at Mechanics Building in the second show of Eddie Mack's Argonne A. A.

Not since he first entered the ring has Christner been more anxious to score a K. O. than in tonight's bout, for as he points out his entire future depends upon a victory here.

Not alone does a bout with Primo Carnera depend upon the result of this meeting, but a host of other contests also.

After beating Schaaf in their first meeting in one of the most thrilling heavyweight battles ever witnessed in this city, it's little wonder that the Akron giant anticipates a victory. Yet he will face an entirely new opponent tonight, for the Hub sailor will adopt different tactics and promises to go after a knockout from the opening bell.

Schaaf has accepted Christner's challenge and stands ready to swap wallops with his bigger opponent from the start. He is confident that his right hand is just as dangerous as that of the westerner, if not more so.

Christner has given Hub fans a couple of samples of his punching ability. He cut loose against Jimmy Maloney and later against Schaaf and had both of them hanging on.

No less a judge than Jack Sharkey has given it as his opinion that Christner is the hardest-hitting heavyweight in the game today.

Sharkey's opinion is the result of a narrow escape from a knockout at the hands of this same tire puddler. It occurred in a bout in New York, which Sharkey always has [illegible] as one of the hardest fights of his entire career.

Because of the importance of the bout, it is expected that one of the biggest throngs that ever invaded Mechanics Building will be on hand.

It is doubtful if Schaaf ever trained harder for a fight anytime in his career, and for this reason, he will step into the ring tonight in his best condition. Schaaf goes to Miami tomorrow, where it is BOSTON UNIVERSITY will play Williams and Northeastern University will tackle Bowdoin in a hockey doubleheader at the Arena tonight.

The Boston teams are favorites but Williams and Bowdoin, profiting by the recent cold snap and consequent good outdoor ice, have come along some distance in the past two weeks and should furnish intense opposition.

Williams has played a representative schedule this season and has lost only twice, to Princeton and to Amherst. The latter defeat was suffered after the Williams team had beaten the Lord Jeffs in the first game of the annual season.

Ben Langmaid, star of last fall's football team, will be at center for Williams with Capt. Hoyt and Wheeler, another pair of football players on the wings. Swartz, who will start at defense, and his sidekick, Hazzard, also were members of the Williams football team which won the "Little Three" championship.

Boston University prospects have picked up recently because of the good work Jake Arkin has been doing on defense. He was drafted for rear-guard duty when Bob Elliot, outstanding defense player of the team, was declared ineligible at mid-years, and has filled in so well that Elliot has not been missed to any great extent.

Northeastern will offer a slightly shifted lineup against Bowdoin. Martin, who played center most of the season, is lost to the team. "Kid" Carter, one of the best of college stick-handlers, has been shifted to center from right wing and Kreusel has been brought up to fill his old place.

Capt. Kerins and Emery, who play defense for the Huskies, are the real bulwarks of the team. The former appears to be one of the best college defense men of the year. Big, fast and clever, he has raised ructions with the defenses of every team he has played against.

Bowdoin has a defense man who compares with him in Harry Thayer. The latter is the high scorer of the team, an outstanding performer in all departments.

BOXING SHOW FOR TROY FUND

Tonight at 8 o'clock in Columbus Hall, Maverick sq., East Boston, will be held the final Troy Fund benefit of the Bennett committee, with several star boxing bouts, vaudeville and dancing.

The show is under direction of Ernie Stevens, gymnasium director and trainer of boxers. Rep. Billy Barker will be master of ceremonies and will present a troupe of entertainers.

This program will be given in an unusual manner for boxing shows. Bouts will be held on the stage, with general dancing on the floor between numbers, in cabaret style.

Joye Matty and his Bluebirds have contributed their services for the dancing. Larry Arthurs, well known club referee, will be third man in the ring.

Other entertainers to give their services are: Ben Allen, song and dance man, and Frankie Yale, East Boston "song bird."

The headliner for the boxing is Johnny Indrisano, contender for the world's welter title who is regarded in sporting circles as the uncrowned welter king.

Latzo Tackles Hard-Hitting Johnson

New York, Feb. 21 (AP)—The latest sensation among the light heavyweights, Harry Johnson, Chicago negro, takes on Pete Latzo, former welterweight champion, in a ten-round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Johnson, hailed as the hardest puncher the division has seen since the hey-day of Paul Berlenbach, has progressed amazingly in the last year or so. He has registered 15 straight knockouts, the last three over Leo Mitchell, Joe Sekyra and Fred Lenhart, the husky Spokane slugger.

24 TEAMS ENTER ANDOVER MEET

Twenty-four schoolboy track teams are entered for the annual Andover interscholastic games, to be held tomorrow afternoon in the Case Memorial Cage at Andover.

Lowell, Lynn English, Medford, Brockton and Newton are among the best teams in the games. Lowell has not just missed out in several big meets of this season and as it has the largest number of entries, 23, in the games, it has a good chance to finish up with the leaders tomorrow.

Captain Jim Sandler of Lowell, capable of beating six feet in the high jump, has not done his best jumping off the boards this winter, but at Andover, where long spikes may be used and outdoor conditions prevail for jumping, he may set a new record.

Malden has a chance to win the meet. The Blue and Gold relay team is fast, and Nate Cooperstein is a splendid 600-yarder. Noseworthy in the hurdles, and Rudman in the high jump, are other likely point winners for Malden.

Newton has Charley Hall and Vin Signore in the short and long distance races, respectively. Walter Holmes is a fast dash man and Jim Colligen can do well in the field events.

Dick Sproul of Brockton will try to come through in the 300. This lad is very fast over the triple-century journey. He was beaten out in the B. A. A. games but is after an Andover victory and has the stuff to win.

Lynn English, with only a few athletes entered in the Northeastern meet, finished up with the leaders and tomorrow a full team of 23 athletes will try to give Lynn English a school meet win. Tony Geniawicz, all around star of the school, is the favorite in the shot-put.

Boston English, Brighton, Everett and South Boston are some of the other schools likely to score in the meet. Nearly 400 boys have been entered and an afternoon of close competition is expected.

Lynn and Quincy to Bowl for Trophy

Greater Lynn and Quincy will compete for the Northeastern Inter-Club bowling title in a three-string championship match, to be rolled off Tuesday evening at the Huntington Club. The winning team will be awarded the Inter-Club Trophy, won last year by Greater Lynn and by Quincy in 1928.

Rolling a single string of 120, Louis Linman, '32, Lynn, won the high individual score and will be awarded a sweater by Hal Janvrin, former major league baseball star, manager of the alleys.

Quincy won the first half of league competition with 18 points, while Greater Lynn won the second half by defeating Salem, 3—0, in the last match.

B. U. Quintet Faces Norwich Tonight

Boston University's varsity and freshman basketball quintets will both swing into action at the St. Botolph st. gym tonight. The varsity will meet Norwich and the frosh will clash with Kents Hill.

The Terrier varsity five will find stiff opposition provided by the Cadets and will be hard pressed to come through on top. The B. U. hoopsters have not met defeat on their home floor this winter and, naturally, are desirous of keeping their slate clean in this respect.

Wolgast Held as Suspicious Character

Philadelphia, Feb. 21 (AP)—Midget Wolgast, 21, flyweight boxing champion of Pennsylvania, was held in $600 bail tonight, charged with being a suspicious character, after his arrest with four companions in an automobile in which police said they found a loaded pistol and a blackjack.

Wolgast and his friends were slated by Police Magistrate O'Brien for a further hearing Feb. 27. The other men gave their names as John Mastroni, 20; Mike Salino, 21; Charles Grosso, 21, and Joseph Camerelle, 21.

Miss Walsh Voted Outstanding Athlete

New York, Feb. 21 (INS)—Miss Stella Walsh of Cleveland was the outstanding athlete of the recent Millrose A. C. games, according to an announcement today by a special committee named by the club.

This selection gave Miss Walsh the unique honor of being the only woman to have her name placed on the Rodman Wanamaker international trophy since the annual award was instituted in 1925. It also brought her another prize for her victory over three Canadian rivals in the 50-yard sprint final. She had previously received a gold medal for first place and an additional prize for breaking a record.

HARVARD FIVE TO PLAY UNION

The Harvard varsity basketball team will meet the Union team at Hemenway Gymnasium tonight.

The Union team has played 10 games this season, winning seven and losing three. The Harvard team has played nine games, winning six and losing three.

There appears little to choose between the quintets and a close, hard fought contest is expected.

Tomorrow night the Harvard five will meet Dartmouth at Hemenway Gymnasium.

The Dartmouth team through February 17 had played 15 games, winning nine, and losing six.

Can-Am Teams Staging Greatest Race Ever

By BILL GRIMES

BEFORE the race for play-off positions in the Canadian-American League is over, it may be necessary for the "no contest" game between New Haven and Springfield to be replayed.

The Rhode Island Reds are practically assured of first place, but there is a bitter three-cornered fight being waged for second and third between the Tigers, New Haven and Philadelphia.

Bill Grimes

Because Leo Reece and George Patterson, who were sent to New Haven on loan, were recalled after two games by the New York Americans, President Dooley threw out the Eagle-Indian game of Jan. 18, but stipulated that it would be replayed in the event the result would put either team in the play-offs.

The Indians are four games away from fourth place with 10 to play, while New Haven is in third place, one point behind the Tigers, and has nine games to play. If the contest which was stricken from the records is ordered replayed, it may upset the final standing.

The ideal combination for a play-off would be the same arrangements as last season, Boston, Providence and Springfield. But unless the "breaks" start favoring the Indians, for the first time in the history of Canadian-American League competition, Springfield is going to be out of the series.

Incidentally the Tigers have a battle on their hands to reach the play-offs, in spite of the fact that they are now in second place. The Eagules and Arrows are within one game of the Tigers and the Powers-coached team has played one more game than either New Haven or Philadelphia.

Also, the Tigers still have two games to be played against Providence and three with Springfield.

The Arrows have the hardest row to hoe, for of the 10 remaining games, they must meet the Rhode Island Reds, the class of the league, four times.

From now until the Canadian-American League season closes late next month, the interest will center around the battle for second and third places between Boston, New Haven and Philadelphia.

Although for three years the Can-Am. race has been keenly fought, this year's fight promises to be the stiffest in the annals of the league.

Miss Collett Has 4 Players for Team

New York, Feb. 21 (AP)—Glenna Collett, national women's champion, has secured four recruits for her forthcoming invasion of Great Britain this summer, when the first women's international team match in history is to be played.

Miss Collett, who is to captain the American squad, said she had received tentative acceptances from Maureen Orcutt of Englewood, N. J.; Helen Hicks of Hewlett, N. Y.; Bernice Wall of Oshkosh, Wis., and Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd of Philadelphia.

Molly Gourlay of Camberley Heath is to captain the English team.

GOLFERS PLAY AT WOLLASTON

Taking advantage of the unseasonable weather, between 40 and 50 members and guests of the Wollaston Golf Club played the Montclair course.

With the exception of the swamp holes, the course was in ideal condition, the other fairways were dry and unusually fast for this time of the year, while the famous Wollaston greens were perfect.

The members began to gather at the club shortly after noon and during the afternoon the course had all the appearance of an afternoon two months hence. The regulars, Joe Hern, Chick Connolly, Fred Thayer, Jim O'Connell, Russ Todd, John Black, Charlie Crowley, Doc Kendall, Bill Fallon and Grif Fallon were among the early arrivals.

If the weather remains fair and warm, there will be a club tournament staged tomorrow, Washington's Birthday.

TITLE EVENTS ON B.S.A. SWIM PROGRAM

FOUR New England swimming championship events will be at stake tomorrow evening in the ninth annual meet of the Boston Swimming Association which will be held in the pool of the Y. M. C. A., Huntington ave.

Two title events for girls and two for the men. The championship events for the latter are senior 50-yards free style and N. England A. A. U. junior 500-yard free style. The women will compete in the New England senior low board diving competition and 50-yard junior free style championship.

Among the other events listed on the program are 100-yard breast stroke, 150-yard backstroke, 100-yard free style and 50 yard dash for men. The latter event is closed to members of the Boston Swimming Association.

The women will compete in the 100-yard free style scratch, 100-yard back stroke scratch, 100-yard breast stroke scratch, 50-yard free style, 220-yard free style and two 50-yard dash events for girls and one for members of the Boston Swimming Association.

Bohren Athletic Director at Hobart

Geneva, N. Y., Feb. 21 (AP)—Karl W. Bohren, former University of Pittsburgh half back, has been appointed director of athletics at Hobart College, it was announced today by President Murray Bartlett. Bohren will have a place on the faculty and will have teaching duties in addition to his supervision of athletics, President Bartlett said.

Bohren, who was selected from a large number of candidates since the resignation of Vincent "Deak" Welch last December 1, comes to Hobart from Bellefonte Academy at Bellefonte, Pa., where he headed the physical training department for two years. For three years previous Bohren was coach at St. Vincent's College at Beatty, Pa. He is 31 years old and married.

Sharkey Expects to Make $1,000,000 More in Ring

EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

FEELS SURE OF WINNING WORLD TITLE

By JACK SHARKEY

American Heavyweight Champion

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 21.—I shall make at least $1,000,000 more should nothing occur to prevent me from defeating Phil Scott next Thursday night and Max Schmeling at the Yankee Stadium in New York on June 26.

My tussle with Scott will net me $100,000 in the event [illegible] draws $100,000 [illegible] a certainty.

Should I [illegible] Schmeling there will be [illegible] more than a million dollars. My [illegible] will be $500,000.

I hope to earn $200,000 in the movies and in other ways outside of the boxing game if I win over Schmeling.

If I lick the German Dempsey, I shall not box again until the summer of 1931 when I shall defend the world's heavyweight championship. My title defense match will net me at least $100,000.

HOWEVER, it is the desire to become heavyweight champion of the world rather than to make a million dollars, that is spurring me on. I already have sufficient goods of this world for the needs of my wife, three children and myself.

I would rather be recognized as the best heavyweight than to make a tremendous fortune.

Money, though, follows a boxer who is successful in the ring. It should be used to good advantage and not dissipated along the night club route. What follows may sound somewhat soft or high-brow [illegible] what I [illegible] of money.

I'm after the dough [illegible] says because I would like to give my children some of the things which were denied me when I was young. The chief gift which I can help them obtain is a good education. Learning is the most important thing in the world other than religion and good family life. Riches without education are of no value.

Education teaches the proper use of money. It also safeguards it and keeps its owner from becoming a public charge.

BOXERS are entitled to all of the money they can earn in the ring. Their road is not an easy one. They are subjected to heavy punishment in the training camp and when under fire in ring contests.

For every boxer who becomes a millionaire, like Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey, there are thousands of boys who are barely able to earn enough to keep body and soul together.

Ambition keeps them in the ring. They feel that some day they will be able to batter down the barriers that block their advance and become national favorites. My heart goes out to these youngsters as fate turns its back on them and they go down to defeat with bruised bodies and broken hearts.

When you read about the big money made in the ring, give a thought to the thousands who have tried to gain fame and riches at one of the hardest of competitive games, and who have ended up with ruined bodies and shattered dreams.

THE grind of the training camp continues as I enter the final stages of my preparation for my 15-round bout here with Phil Scott, British champion, next Thursday night. I have been working hard for three weeks and have slowly rounded myself into fine shape.

I feel that, when I come out at the opening gong, I shall be in as good condition as I was when I knocked out Tommy Loughran at the Yankee Stadium last September. That means a whole lot of trouble for Phil Scott.

M'KENNEY PLAN HITS SNAG

It seems that Coach Joe McKenney's idea of winter and spring football at Boston College will have to be [illegible] arrival of the [illegible] Monday and the continued delay in arranging the game with Iowa.

Practically all the baseball squad has football connections and Coach Hugh Duffy of the diamond outfit intends to hold practice every afternoon at the Commonwealth Armory until the season opens.

Oklahoma Aggies still refuse to cancel their game with Iowa and this is the only hitch in the plans. The Governor of Iowa has taken a hand in the matter to help out the convention of the American Legion. Iowa and Oklahoma are both state colleges and political influence may be able to change the situation.

McKenney adopted the idea of winter and spring football when Iowa announced that it was willing to play B. C. Joe is opposed to off-season football but deemed it necessary with an early season foe of Iowa's strength.

If the game goes through and McKenney can't get his football men together for spring work, the Eagles will start off their 1931 football season under a large handicap. McKenney plans to change his entire offense and this will take longer than the usual training period from the day after Labor Day until the opener.

In keeping with our annual custom, we will hold a Washington's Birthday Open House on Saturday, February 22nd, at the Oakland-Pontiac showrooms. You and your friends are cordially invited to attend. The latchstring will be out at 10 a. m., and the festivities will continue until 10 in the evening. There will be many things to interest and entertain you. While you are here, you will also have an opportunity to make a leisurely inspection of our two splendid new cars—the New Oakland Eight and the New Series Pontiac Big Six, both with smart new bodies by Fisher.

The New Oakland Eight is General Motor's Newest and lowest-priced eight-cylinder car. Because it has an 85-horsepower engine which develops one horsepower to 37 pounds of car weight, it delivers such exceptional speed, power and acceleration that it is called "the car with superior performance." It makes possible the ownership and enjoyment of an unusually fine eight at an extremely moderate price. The New Series Pontiac Big Six is the finest car to bear its famous name. It is fast and powerful, with all the smoothness that its improved 60-horsepower engine makes possible. And with its new beauty, handling ease and riding comfort it points the way to an exceptionally high degree of motoring satisfaction at a very low price.

Put a circle around February 22nd on your calendar as a reminder to attend our Washington's Birthday Open House. You are assured a warm welcome, and there is every reason to believe you will find your visit very much worth while.

You must ride in the New Essex Challenger to know what this price buys. Every minute of the time you will be impressed with how much more it gives—more in speed—in fast get-away—more in size, roominess and conveniences of personal comfort—more in completeness, good looks and fine appointment.

It means you will never be content with any lesser car. How vastly it differs from any other car of low price.

That is why it is the most talked of—most widely compared car of the year.

Victorious was the first Challenger. Instant the success of the New Essex Challenger.

In every test that counts—Performance, looks, value, price.

With entirely new lines from radiator and fenders to tail light and from road to the lowered roof line, it challenges interest. Its distinctive appearance scores in that count.

For complete thoroughness and fineness in every detail outside and in—for painstaking attention to fitness and beauty, it compares with the costliest.

In performance the New Essex Challenger is just as advanced. There is more power. It gives more in every performance range. These extra margins save any sense of effort, mean longer life.

The challenge rings out for all to accept. The New Essex Challenger is a "show me car" that demands its right to prove. The price is within the reach of everyone.

Minister-Doctor Says "Flaxolyn Saved My Stomach and My Health"

Flaxolyn is today being widely acclaimed by stomach sufferers here but no case is as striking as that of Dr. Middlekauff, who writes as follows:

"Some years ago when I was in personal need of gastro-intestinal help, I used Flaxolyn with excellent results. I am a retired minister. I broke down in health completely 15 years ago. But with the help of Flaxolyn I am getting back my health. I am enclosing $10 for a quantity of Flaxolyn to help my [illegible] I am sure of helping many people with Flaxolyn because it pays proper attention to stomach needs which ordinary laxatives do not."

The new vitaminized Flaxolyn contains such herbal ingredients as Spanish Licorice Root, Chinese Rhubarb, Dandelion Roots, Sarsaparilla Roots and many other leaves, barks, berries and seeds.

Couldn't Work; Flaxolyn Quick to Relieve His Rheumatic Pains

Here is a remarkable case of a man who writes in from Detroit and says he wants to add his name to the long list of people who have obtained marvelous results from Dr. Luntz's pleasant Herbal Flaxolyn.

The man is D. A. Stewart, and he says: "Last Fall and Winter I suffered so badly from rheumatism that at times it was practically impossible for me to get around at all. I was also troubled with indigestion very badly.

"Recently, on the recommendation of a friend, I secured some Flaxolyn and now the aches and pains are ALL GONE, and my digestion is perfect and my appetite improved. Flaxolyn has done me such a world of good that I never lose an opportunity to recommend it wherever and whenever I can."

Not So Dumb by HELEN KLUMPH

How a Girl Helped Her Affianced in His Business

By HELEN KLUMPH

From Marion Davies' forthcoming all-talking picture by Wanda Tuchok and Edwin Justus Mayer, based on the play "Dulcy," by Marc Connelly and George Kaufman.

CHAPTER 17

THE noise of Forbes and Dulcy clattering down the stairs brought Gordon and Van Dyke from their quiet reverie over a title in the kitchen.

"The pearls are gone," Forbes stated incoherently on the run.

"But there's really no mystery about it," Dulcy explained earnestly to Gordon, "because Perkins is gone, too.

"You see," she went on, turning to Van Dyke politely to explain, "Perkins has made mistakes before. He was just on parole. And I thought he was perfectly all right."

Van Dyke was her only sympathetic listener. He took as calm an interest in the whole proceeding as though it were one of the old kitchen forks that had vanished. In fact, he seemed to look on the whole affair as a boyish prank. But Forbes, his breath coming in noisy puffs, was hurrying toward the door followed by Gordon, who paused only long enough to cast one malevolent glance at Dulcy.

"I suppose it's useless," Forbes gasped, "but I am going to try to follow him in my car."

"We'll get him," Gordon assured him, though his voice sounded uncertain at best.

They flung open the door and rushed pell-mell into the driveway, followed a moment later by Dulcy and Van Dyke. The glare of headlights flooded them, and Forbes jumped back just in time to escape being hit by a car.

"It's my car," he announced in complete bewilderment. "Did someone else go after him?"

Everyone turned toward Dulcy eagerly for an explanation. She waited a moment before giving them her big surprise. Already the pearls were forgotten so far as she was concerned. The elopers were off! In that, at least, she had succeeded.

Just as Mrs. Forbes came up, unnoticed, from the garage, she announced jubilantly, "Well, they're gone."

"Yes, yes," Forbes sputtered in an agony of impatience. "Who's gone?"

"Vincent and Angela," Dulcy cooed, delighted. "They've eloped."

"Eloped?"

Forbes was no more aghast than Gordon. They turned on Dulcy, unwilling to believe their ears. Forbes was the first to regain his voice.

"Nincompoop! Jackass!" he fairly shouted. "This is more of your doing. This is the last straw."

"But Bill went with them," Dulcy explained, as though convinced that this would make it entirely all right. "And he will bring your car back tomorrow when they are safely married."

"Married!" Forbes bellowed, as he wheeled and stamped into the house, adding, in a cold fury, "now thanks to you we have a braying jackass in the family. I hope you are satisfied that you have done enough."

The more Mrs Forbes tried to quiet him, the more explosive he became. But as his rage died down in sheer exhaustion, he turned to Dulcy in an ominous calm.

"Mr. Parker," he told her, "I am [illegible] my words very carefully. Since my car is gone and the last train is gone, it seems that I shall be compelled to remain in this house overnight." He shuddered at the prospect, adding, "I shall endeavor not to commit a murder."

Mrs Forbes looked on with terror-stricken eyes. She wondered when her turn would come.

"It wasn't my fault, honestly," she blurted out, going up to him and putting her hand on his arm. "I really didn't know anything about it. You know I would have done anything to stop—"

But Forbes wasn't paying any attention to her. His eyes were still levelled on Dulcy and Gordon.

"Mr Forbes, I am sure this can be fixed up in some way," Gordon began, the quaver in his voice betraying his complete lack of conviction in what he said.

"Fixed up! Fixed up!" Forbes was growing incoherent with rage again.

"Yes, I am sure it can," Dulcy cooed, her old manner of complete assurance returning. "I always say that an angry word spoken in haste—"

Forbes turned away from her as though he could hear no more. Turning to Gordon, he spoke in a cold fury.

"I am beyond anger. If I did what I feel like doing I'd tear this house down and throw it in the

FIREMAN IS KILLED AFTER URGING SAFETY BILL

Postmaster Gow to Serve Until Plans Are Completed

MEETS DEATH ATER URGING SAFETY LAW

Ladderman McGrath, Cambridge Fire Victim, Had Backed Bill at Hearing

Ladderman William McGrath of Cambridge went on duty after arguing before the committee on public safety at the State House for a law to compel gas companies to put an automatic shutoff on all intake pipes, so that the gas flow would cease when the line took fire.

He cited the deaths of a mother and two children in a Cambridge fire this week and said that firemen had been unable to reach the gas shutoff valve to check the flames.

Actions speak larger than words and McGrath's verbal arguments were paid a few hours later when he paid with his life while trying to shut off the gas during a fire in a cellar on Green st., Cambridge.

His death and his widow and four orphaned children may convince the committee of the necessity for the legislation in the opinion of Sen. Joseph J. Mulhern, author of the bill.

BLAMES POLICEMEN

Another aftermath of the fatal fire was denunciation of "sidewalk engineers" and "butt-in politicians" by Fire Chief James Casey of Cambridge.

Chief Casey said City Councillor Patrick J. Delaney has criticized him for saying gas tanks were useless. Casey intimated that Delaney ought to wear one of the masks.

He said that police were to blame for not keeping crowds back at fires and keeping politicians and other "know-it-alls" from the firemen. He cited several fires where gas masks were futile, because the oxygen had all been consumed by the flames.

Two more firemen are fighting death from the same cause that killed McGrath. They are Hoseman Edward Malone and John Murphy of Engine 6. Both are at Cambridge relief hospital.

PRIZE CATS VICTIMS

Others overcome or injured were Joseph Bedard, Edward Caldwell, Lawrence Tarbox, William Conwell, John Codosa, John McGrath, Leonard Roach, gas and electric company employe, and James Cronin of Kinnaird st., Cambridge.

Two prize cats, Malty and Hoppy, owned by Carl Rodman, proprietor of a market in Central sq., were found dead today from fumes that had seeped into the market from the Green st. cellar. A number of kittens were also asphyxiated.

12 Families Flee Blaze in Revere

Twelve families were driven to the street by a fire in the five-story brick apartment house at Beach and Walnut ave., Revere.

The fire was discovered in the apartment of Nathan Trunckel, on the fifth floor, while his two daughters and two girl friends were dancing in the living room.

Flames were shooting from the windows and the roof when the fire apparatus arrived. The property is owned by David, Samuel and Edward Rosenfield of Beach st., Revere. Damage is estimated at $5000.

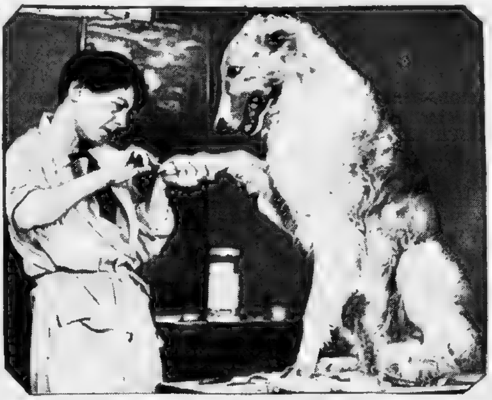
Aristocrats of Dogdom Compete for Honors and Medals at Garden

Piccadilly Dream Girl is the dainty name which this English bulldog bears. It is the pet of Mrs. P. H. Slocum of South Dartmouth, and is seeking honors in the Eastern Dog Show at Boston Garden. Mrs. Slocum makes her pet "look pretty."



A dog must look his very best for the judges. That is why Miss Hammersmith is giving Igor Perchino a manicure at the Garden show. Igor Perchino is a Russian wolf hound, and he seems to like the idea of getting "dolled up." That may not be a smile on his face, but its the best he can do. (Staff photos.)

New Home Is Given Eviction Victims

Today was a joyous occasion for William LeBlanc of Waltham and his family.

Threatened with eviction for non-payment of rent, kind-hearted fellow-citizens, headed by Mayor Duane, rallied to the aid of LeBlanc, furnishing food, shelter and work.

Mayor Duane, who declared LeBlanc, his wife and three children might sleep in his offices in City Hall if necessary, provided work in the street department.

City Councillor Thomas J. Flannery offered an apartment at 39 Charles st., Waltham, with plenty of time to pay the rent, and the happy family will move into it tonight.

Other citizens, including Martin J. Dooley, offered shelter and neighbors provided food.

The LeBlancs, including three children, Helen, five, Rita, two, and Gaston, seven, were to have been ejected today from the house they have been occupying.

A writ of eviction was issued in Waltham district court on petition of Mrs. Ethel Griff of Main st. for non-payment of rent. LeBlanc lost his job, and pay due him was not forthcoming, with the result he was unable to pay his bills. Mayor Duane termed the case one of the most pitiful brought to his attention.

3 VACCINATION BILLS KILLED

The House today, without debate, accepted adverse reports made by the public health committee on bills prohibiting impure virus, a non-compulsory vaccination law and to allow children unvaccinated because of religious scruples, to attend public schools.

The committee has not yet reported on two remaining bills, one to extend compulsory vaccination to private schools, and the other a recommendation of Health Commission George H. Bigelow, to compel vaccination of babies under one year of age.

On the bill extending compulsory vaccination to private schools, however, the committee has been polled and has voted to report favorably with four dissenters.

Dance of B. C. Club

The 15th annual dance of the Boston College Club of Charlestown will be held at the K. of C. hall, 44 High st., Charlestown, on February 28.

Colonial Garb at Holiday Fete

Lords and ladies of colonial days in America will live again at Fox Hall, women's dormitory of Boston University's school of religious education, when the girls there appear tomorrow evening in the guise of General George Washington and his wife Martha, Betsy Ross, flag-maker, Nathan Hale, the famous patriot, the elegant Lafayette, and Dolly Madison.

Marion Campbell of New Haven, Conn., chairman of the evening's program, has announced that the guests will be received by the colonial personages who will compose the informal receiving line.

HOLIDAY TRAINS ARE CROWDED

Unusually heavy holiday travel to the north today necessitated extra trains and extra sections of regular trains on Boston & Maine lines to Canada and Maine.

Crowds of merrymakers, burdened with furs, skis and snowshoes, thronged the North Station and perspired in the almost summer temperatures.

Although the Ambassador and Alouette for Montreal, and the Flying Yankee for Portland pulled out with extra Pullmans and others, the heaviest rush started in the afternoon. At 2 40 the Burlington express left with hundreds bound for New Hampshire resorts, and the night trains are all sold out.

Similar conditions were reported by the Boston & Albany and New Haven railroads. Hundreds leave tonight at 6 10 for Niagara Falls on an excursion. The afternoon train for New York via Springfield was run in two sections. The Cleveland Limited left with two special cars filled with enthusiasts going to Lake Placid.

Memorial Mass for Quincy War Hero

A memorial mass will be celebrated in St. Mary's Church, West Quincy, tomorrow for Cyril P. Morrisette and will be attended by the 250 members of the American Legion post named after him. Saturday will be the 12th anniversary of his death.

The mass will be celebrated by the Rev. William T. O'Connor, pastor. There will be [illegible]. At the conclusion of the church ceremony members of the post will march to his grave, where a volley will be fired and taps sounded.

Dog Show Honors May Go to 12-Time Winner

Ch. Herewithem J. P., big four-year-old liver and white pointer dog which has been judged best sporting dog at 12 shows since last February, appeared well on his way to chalking up a 13th similar win today.

Judge Frank H. Addyman selected him as the best of breed this morning at the 15th annual show of the Eastern Dog Club at Boston Garden.

As the best of his class he will line up with the other best-of-breeds tomorrow night before Judge William Prescott Wood, who will make the final decision in the sporting classes.

Robert F. Maloney's entry will have his stiffest competition, no doubt, in Idahurst Belle II, the cocker spaniel owned by O. B. Gilman of Boston, and chosen best of breed at the judging in that class yesterday.

The little cocker has the distinction of being probably the only dog in show history to have 19 championship points to his credit, nearly twice as many points as are necessary for championship rating, without attaining championship.

The reason is that she has won nearly all of them within the past year and [illegible] rated a champion [illegible] issue of the American Kennel Club Gazette.

Benchfield Model, a son of Herewithem J. P., owned by Dr. Ronald H. Lewis, was judged the best pointer at the show. Mrs. W. Enos Philips' Harbor Hill Mariner was the best novice shown. Of the American-bred pointer dogs, Falescroft Major, owned by Leroy A. Fales, was chosen, and of the female American bred, [illegible] Farm Garalda's Ann won first.

Maloney's Fern Bank Major went limit dogs and Augustus B. Field's Fieldstone Coronet limit female. Field's [illegible] won in the open dog class and Maloney's Felicity of Ardagh in the limit female. Fern Bank Major took the winners dogs but in the general class was defeated by Fieldstone Coronet. L. L. Thompson's Pilgrim Pal was judged the best field trial pointer exhibited.

Ch. Nuthill Dignity was chosen the best springer spaniel shown and will go into the best of sporting class tomorrow night.

KENNEDY STAFF HOLDS BANQUET

The annual banquet of the Kennedy Associates, composed of employes of the Kennedy Clothing Co. was held at the Chamber of Commerce.

F. J. Kennedy told of the big increase of business shown in the new store and thanked the employes for their cooperation. He looked for a good spring business, he said. John White, general manager of the 10 Kennedy stores, and other associates spoke.

An entertainment was given un[illegible] Levine, general chairman, assisted by George P. Hassett, T. E. Hoban, Daniel Sullivan and Max Ruby. Dan O'Connell sang.

DEFERS HIS RETIREMENT FROM POST

Decides to Remain on Job a While Longer After Conference With Hoover

Col. Charles R. Gow today announced he will continue as postmaster of Boston until certain plans and policies he inaugurated during the past year for improvement of service have been carried [illegible].

He [illegible] of a conference with [illegible] Hoover and P[illegible] at Washington [illegible] it was essential for him to retain his official connection with the office at [illegible] formulated [illegible].

[illegible] President [illegible] General [illegible] that [illegible] highly.

He said that under the circumstances it was felt his resignation should not be considered now, but that action should be deferred to a later date when the situation might change to such extent as to make it possible for him to reconsider his intention of leaving the service.

Postmaster Gow also said that in order to take care of his personal [illegible] it was [illegible] a leave of absence without compensation for a limited period. During the interval he said he has agreed to devote as much time as possible to [illegible] the benefit of the Boston postal district.

REPORT SUICIDE ON NIGHT BOAT

The probable suicide at sea of E. Forest LeMon of Place st., Long Island City, N. Y., was reported to Boston police today on arrival of the Eastern Steamship liner George Washington.

LeMon, who was booked as L. Johnson with no address, was last seen between 7 and 8 o'clock last night, after the steamer had sailed from New York for Boston.

This morning, according to Vice-President Andrew B. Sides of the company, his room was opened, and evidences of occupancy found, although the bed had not been slept in.

A sealed note was found bearing the inscription "Please forward to my wife, Mrs. E. Forest LeMon, Place st., Long Island City." A small amount of change and a bottle of medicine purchased in New York were also left in the room.

Officer Saves Woman From Jail

Through the intercession of Sergt. John J. Manning of Division 3, himself the father of a large family, Mrs. Nellie Bellsky of Billerica st., West End, was saved from jail today.

Mrs Bellsky, mother of five children, was in Judge Murray's session of municipal court as a fourth offender, charged with keeping and exposing liquor for sale. A suspended sentence of three months was already hanging over her. Sergt. Manning said he believed the woman was forced to sell liquor by her husband, Mike. Judge Murray, on Mrs Bellsky's promise to sell no more liquor, gave her another three [illegible] sentence. He ordered her to throw her husband out if he brought home liquor.

Goodwin Raps Fin. Com. Head Pay Raise

The House today accepted an adverse report on the bill of Rep. Martin Hays of Brighton to increase the salary of the chairman of the Boston Finance Commission from $5000 to $7500.

When the bill was heard in committee Frank A. Goodwin, present chairman of the finance commission, appeared and protested against the increase. The job, he pointed out, is part time and the present salary good enough for him.

LYNN SWINDLES BARED AFTER HUB ARREST

"Jimmy" Wallace, Football Coach, Accuses Man Seized for the Vermont Police

Albert Swanson, arrested by Boston police for an alleged Brattleboro, Vt., swindle, has been working the same racket in Lynn, police of that city were told today by "Jimmy" Wallace, former Holy Cross football star.

Wallace, at present part time coach for Swampscott Junior High School and St. John's Parochial School of that town, said he had been duped of $200 and a friend of $350 by Swanson.

He told Chief Inspector William Kane of Lynn that a few weeks ago he answered an advertisement inserted in a [illegible] paper by Swanson, who had offices in City Hall sq., Lynn.

The advertisement asked for young men of good character to act as messengers, and Wallace, who lives at 484 Humphrey st., Swampscott, responded, together with Charles L. Hurt of 60 Muller ave.

Swanson told them, according to Wallace's story to the police, he would require a cash bond, and the young men paid over their money.

After waiting two weeks and hearing nothing from Swanson they visited his offices only to find them closed.

YOUTH TO LEAD GREAT MORAL CRUSADE

Permanent Council to Fight for Law Enforcement and "Parole Plan"

A permanent Youth Crusade Council will be established in Greater Boston for the purpose of working for great [illegible], it was announced at the Youth Crusade meeting in Park St. Church by Chairman Robert C. Rapp.

The council, [illegible] will not be a governing body and will not be a new and independent organization, [illegible] to its membership representatives of every Christian youth group in Greater Boston.

"[illegible] youth in common purposes and will support great moral, social and religious movements. It is our hope that this Youth Crusade Council may point the way to other cities and lead to the unity of youth across the nation.

"The crusade is for peace. We accept the Paris pact as a covenant of personal and national honor. We stand for the law, both state and national, and we believe in liberty under law.

"This council will provide a solid youth background for the governor of Massachusetts in his plan for a referendum on the question of law enforcement. We shall throw our influence behind the enforcement of the Baby Volstead Act."

In addition the platform states that they endorse the parole plan as proposed by Dr. Daniel A. Poling, who is conducting the present crusade, which calls for the paroling of first offenders back to the society or church from which they come.

This plan will be known as the "Boston plan," and the committee hopes that it will be adopted all over the nation.

Expresses Appreciation to Kellogg Company for Relief

If you are troubled with constipation, this letter from Mr. John J. Mulligan, [illegible] So. Cicero Avenue, Chicago, Ill., will interest you.

This is a copy of a letter of appreciation for the relief received he obtained through the use of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

"For years, in fact ever since my return from France, I have been troubled with constipation and its companion ills. I tried numerous remedies in vain. Finally, in desperation, not wishing to be a slave to laxatives all my life, I turned to Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. The results were remarkable and quick. In fact the next day long-hoped-for relief became a happy reality."

The Kellogg Company has received thousands of similar letters in praise of ALL-BRAN, the product that is positively guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation.

It also adds needed iron to the diet and builds health.

Eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN with milk or cream . . . in soups, salads and fruit juices . . . in cooked foods and hot breads. Your grocer has ALL-BRAN in the red-and-green package. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

GOODWIN DENOUNCES ZONE SYSTEM OF AUTO INSURANCE RATES

SAYS BOSTON IS GETTING SHORT END

Companies Are Flooding the Small Towns With Propaganda, He Declares

The zone system of compulsory auto insurance rates under which Chelsea, Boston and other nearby cities pay much higher rates than other places, was denounced today before the legislative committee on insurance by Frank A. Goodwin, author of the state fund auto insurance plan.

Goodwin charged that the insurance companies were flooding the small towns with propaganda against his bill which provides for insurance by the State and a flat rate for all communities.

He also went to the defense of the Boston metropolitan district, pointing to ways in which he alleged the country districts were getting far more than their just share of state expenditures. Yet in spite of this, he said, they wanted to "punish" Greater Boston in the matter of auto rates.

CITES TOWN OF BARRE

He said he was not trying to make the small towns pay as much as Chelsea and Boston, but was urging that the people of these cities pay as little as the towns as they would do under his plan.

Singling out the town of Barre for illustration, he said Barre got nearly four times as much out of the state highway fund as it paid in. He doubted if Chelsea got anything out of the fund.

He suggested the towns should be limited to receiving no more than what they contributed to the state in the way of auto fees and gasoline tax. Barre he singled out for illustration because Representative Clyde H. Swan of that town is a member of the special insurance commission which reported adversely to Goodwin's state fund plan.

Today's session of the legislative committee was the third of the hearing and Goodwin was rebutting arguments of his opponents, the members of the special insurance commission.

SMALL TOWNS GAIN

"The state highway fund is contributed chiefly, of course, by metropolitan Boston," said Goodwin. "In the last ten years Barre has contributed to that fund a little over $100,000, yet I find that $100,615 has been expended from the fund for roads and other improvements in that town.

"The small towns also get the benefit of the state police. It is pretty nearly time those towns lay off their opposition to abolition of the zone system of auto rates.

"Chelsea has turned in a large sum to the state fund but there are a lot of trucks there that never leave that section though they must contribute to Chelsea's large share of the state highway fund out of which the small towns seem to be getting the greatest benefits. I doubt if Chelsea gets anything out of the state for new streets."

Representative Swan interrupted Goodwin on the subject of the state police, to say, "Barre is a law abiding place."

DENIES RETALIATION.

"Yes, but you have policemen just the same and what's more some of your people got jobs fixing up the roads. Let me tell you about New Ashford in the Berkshires. It went solidly for the governor in the last election. We found everybody there got $100 worth of road work in the spring.

"As long as the towns are doing a job on the metropolitan area, as regards auto insurance rates, it is no more than just that the highway fund law be amended so that they will get out of it only what they contribute."

"Is your bill a retaliatory measure against the towns?" asked Senator C. Wesley Hale of Springfield.

"Of course not," said Goodwin. "But I am trying to offset the propaganda."

"Would you be willing to see the gasoline tax increased?"

"Absolutely not. We are being taxed to death now."

He said his plan would save the motor vehicle registry $60,000 on one item alone, the expense of collections under the present system.

ATTACKS REPORT

Goodwin engaged in frequent verbal tilts with members of the committee as page by page he attacked the arguments made against his state fund bill in the report of the special commission.

He charged the commission with making a misrepresentation when it quoted the Supreme Court as saying the rates in his bill were too low to bring sufficient revenue.

Goodwin charged that the commission, in its report, had done everything it could to "befuddle the issue."

Under the present law, the speaker pointed out, 60,000 people were "gypped" by defunct insurance companies and the number of others "hurt" couldn't be estimated.

He said there is no more fear of the Supreme Court declaring his fund bill unconstitutional than there is in saying the present law is unconstitutional.

QUESTION OF MONOPOLY.

On the question of monopoly, he said the people now have to insure with one of 67 companies, but pay the same rates as fixed by the insurance commissioner. In the aggregate, he insisted, the 67 companies now constitute a monopoly.

He again pointed out that the commission had changed the $13,000,000 figure estimate of receipts under the State fund bill to $11,500,000. The $13,000,000, he contended, is a correct figure, while the $11,500,000 he charged was secured by the commission from the insurance companies.

He wondered why he had not been called before the commission before the figure was changed and given the opportunity to back up his figure, which came from the motor vehicle registry. Goodwin said he knew members of the commission had paid lots of visits to the insurance companies.

"I think some on your commission saw Mr. Downs (legislative agent for the insurance companies) far more often than they saw me," charged Goodwin.

GARRETT PROBE ORDER SIGNED

Gov. Frank G. Allen today signed the resolve adopted by the legislature yesterday calling for an investigation by Atty. Gen. Joseph E. Warner of the activities of former Patrolman Oliver B. Garrett of the Boston police department.

Following the signing of the Garrett investigation resolve, Governor Allen had a conference with Attorney-General Joseph E. Warner.

The Governor asked that neither time nor money be spared by the attorney-general to the end that the probe be a thoroughgoing one.

The Governor further suggested that Warner engage the services of a special assistant.

The attorney-general later declared the details of the investigation would be announced by him early next week, probably on Monday. The hearings will be public, he said.

For the pursuing of the investigation the attorney-general has a fund of $15,000.

While he had practically no comment to make, Warner let it be known that he intended to press the matter vigorously.

MY DEAR, DOESN'T THIS AWFUL RAIN SIMPLY DRIVE YOU FRANTIC? I KNOW I'LL CATCH MY DEATH OF COLD!
YES, AND TODAY OF ALL DAYS—I HAD THE LOVELIEST OUTFIT I WANTED TO WEAR—BUT WHAT'S THE USE OF PLANNING ANYTHING IN THIS TERRIBLE RAIN—
OH, THUNDER! JUST WHEN I HAD THE CAR NICE AND CLEAN OLD JUPITER PLUVIUS HAD TO TIP OVER HIS CONFOUNDED WATER WAGON—I WOULDN'T WISH THIS KIND OF A DAY ON A DYING DUCK—GEE, SOME PEOPLE'RE GROUCHY—EVERY TIME THE WEATHER CHANGES THEY STAND UP ON THEIR HIND LEGS AN' START TO HISS THE WEATHER MAN—
BLIND
CALLIN' THE WEATHER MAN NAMES'LL NEVER STOP THE RAIN FROM FALLIN'—FOR SOME PEOPLE IT'S ALWAYS TOO HOT OR TOO COLD—OR TOO WET OR TOO DRY—BUT I DON'T SEE NO SENSE IN SQUAWKIN' WHEN THERE AIN'T NOTHIN' THAT CAN BE DONE ABOUT IT—

Using Up the Left Overs

WHILE none of [illegible] the exp[illegible] elegant [illegible] by one of my [illegible] of having "swell swill" [illegible] question how to use up the [illegible] advantage, and at the [illegible] make dishes which [illegible] and of real food [illegible]

First, be careful [illegible] the digestibility of left-overs by cooking them too long. In the case of using left-over meats it is better to use hot sauces and let them do most of the heating.

A double boiler is an excellent utensil to use for reheating and remember that these reheated foods need to be more highly seasoned than fresh cooked ones.

Celery salt and onion salt are helpful in giving fresh zest to made-over dishes, and onion, carrots, turnips, tomatoes, celery tips, parsley, bay leaf, savory, thyme, bay leaves, garlic, lemon [illegible], pickles, olives, cloves, peppercorns, celery seed, beef extract, [illegible] sauce and other meat sauces are all helpful.

If meat left-overs are [illegible] and combined with a [illegible] sauce placed in [illegible] ramekins or custard cups and covered with buttered crumbs, the family are usually delighted. Remember that the way the left over dish is dressed up counts a good deal towards its happy reception on the table.

Left-over roast beef should, of course, first be sliced and served cold with a vegetable salad and garnished with something green and crisp. Beef loaf makes an acceptable luncheon or supper dish and beef steak pie can be made of cold roast beef or steak cut into inch squares, moistened with gravy and covered with a baking powder biscuit dough.

Hash is one of my weaknesses and if you will season your hash well with onion and celery salt, or better yet a tablespoon of finely minced onion and two tablespoons of diced celery, use equal amounts of chopped meat and fluffy mashed or diced potato, and moisten your hash with evaporated milk or good rich hot milk, I think you will find it worthy of the best platter and a garnishing of parsley.

Faithfully yours,
MARTHA LEE

EXPERTS FROM OUTSIDE AID NEW ENGLAND

By FRANK H. MELOON
Financial Editor

Recently we cited the "outside approval" given the work of the New England Council. The work of the council has had an effect to which little attention has been paid, and that is its attracting the notice of outside experts in finance and industry to conditions in these northeastern states. Most of the notice has been very kindly.

* * *

Col. Benjamin A. Franklin, president of Associated Industries of Massachusetts, personally welcomes these "outside" experts. He says: "A great difficulty with even the most [illegible] developments [illegible] along [illegible] than [illegible] is con[illegible] alw[illegible] troub[illegible] don[illegible] and we [illegible]

The Boston Stock Exchange is one [illegible] has [illegible] pare with [illegible] conditions. Necessarily in close daily contact with the world's greatest securities market, the [illegible] stock exchange has undergone remarkable transition in recent years. Once it was known [illegible] as the world's [illegible] mar[illegible] That [illegible] the [illegible] and developed largely by New England capital.

Today the copper group contributes a relatively [illegible] of the day's trading, which extends over a list as broad in its groups as that of the New York Stock Exchange. [illegible] And the increase in business during the past two or three years has been on a tremendous scale.

Opinions continue very much divided [illegible] cents a po[illegible] Mr. W[illegible] largest [illegible] him last week [illegible] 18 cents [illegible] and that another had estimated recently that copper needed and which must be bought by July 1 would total 400,000 tons. Refined stocks at present are around 200,000 tons.

We expressed doubt early this week in this column as to the reported "covering movement" of the so-called "Florida bears." Late yesterday W. S. Cousins wired from Wall Street: "Selling orders from the 'Florida crowd' of big bears who have been hammering the market with varied success in the past few days were concentrated chiefly on the oils, mercantile, mail order stocks and high-priced specialties."

IMPORTS INCREASE 19 PER CENT

Swiss imports from the United States in 1929 totaled 291,179,000 francs as against 243,859,000 francs in 1928—a 19 per cent increase; imports from Germany rose by 12 per cent, those from France remained stationary, and imports from England declined by 35 per cent.

MACHINERY SALES UP

Outdistancing all previous records since the more or less abnormal postwar year of 1920, foreign sales of American industrial machinery during 1929 totaled over $257,000,000, thus approaching $850,000 per working day.

NORWEGIAN TRADE GOOD

Norwegian foreign trade during 1929, as compared with 1928 showed considerable improvement, with the estimated value of imports increased from 1,023,400,000 to 1,066,000,000 crowns and exports from 683,000,000 to 752,000,000 crowns.

STOCK MARKET BULLS SECURE ADVANTAGE

By STANLEY W. PRENOSIL

New York, Feb. 21 (AP). Bulls and bears staged another tug-of-war with prices on the New York Stock Exchange today, with the former apparently gaining a slight advantage.

The market opened irregularly higher, ran into a flurry of selling which wiped out many of the initial gains before the end of the first hour, rallied briskly around midday, and then backed and filled during the afternoon.

Trading showed a marked falling off in volume [illegible] were disinclined to make [illegible] commitments [illegible] the two-day [illegible]

UTILITIES FAVORED

Strength of some of the high grade utilities was [illegible] formed reports that brokers with important banking connections were heavy [illegible] one of [illegible] of the year.

Except for a [illegible] in the commodity price index, due largely to the recent sharp break in grain prices, there were few unfavorable developments in the day's news. A few [illegible] were announced over night and favorable dividend action taken by a few small corporations.

Call money renewed at 4 per cent and was in such plentiful supply that the rate was dropped to 3½ in the outside market. The time money market was quiet, with rates unchanged.

NATIONAL LEAD UP.

National Lead, directors of which declared an extra dividend of $1 yesterday, ran up nearly 9 points before the rally was checked by profit-taking. J. I. Case, Brooklyn Union Gas, Eastman Kodak and Auburn Auto sold 4 to 5 points higher at one time. Bullard Co. and DeV[illegible] & Reyn[illegible] moved [illegible] new [illegible] for the year.

Otis Elevator, which sold as high as 333 [illegible] this week, broke 13 points to 315. Safeway Stores and Simmons Company were again heavily [illegible] operators now vacationing in Florida. American Tobacco issues also fell back on [illegible]

Fresh selling came into some of the railroad shares as a result of the disappointing character of some of the recent earnings and traffic reports.

St. Louis Southwestern was hammered down nearly 5 points before it met effective buying support, and Pere Marquette and Union Pacific sold 3 points below yesterday's final quotations.

Cigar Corporation Earns $9.46 a Share

[illegible] for year ended December [illegible] 1929, shows net income of [illegible] after depreciation, federal taxes, etc. [illegible] after dividend requirements on subsidiary preferred stock, the 6½ per cent prior preferred and 7 per cent preferred shares, to $9.46 a share on 250,000 no par shares of common [illegible] compares with $5,61[illegible] 798 or $10.60 a share on common in 1928.

N. E. Tool Maker in Record Profits

Net income of L. S. Starrett Co., important New England manufacturer of precision tools, for 1929 of $852,024, equivalent after preferred dividends, to $5.43 a share on 150,000 shares, was the highest for any similar 12 months' period since 1920 when net was $578,969, or $5.61 per common share after preferred dividends. The 1929 figure represents an increase of approximately 48 per cent over $575,513 net profit in 1928.

Earnings of Canada Bell Are $5,528,068

Bell Telephone Co. of Canada for 1929 reports net income after all charges of $5,528,068, equal to $8.35 a share on 661,901 shares $100 par, outstanding at the end of year and to $9.10 a share on the average number of shares outstanding during the year.

In 1928 company reported net income of $5,596,685, equal to $9.28 a share on 603,105 shares outstanding at the end of the year and to $10.14 a share on the average number of shares outstanding during the year.

Business Recovery Found Continuing

New York, Feb. 21 (AP). The gradual recovery of business is continuing, although the improvement is not uniformly apportioned among industries, and the general outlook is distinctly encouraging, the Union Trust Co., Cleveland, reports in its monthly survey of business conditions. A few of the encouraging signs reported were the renewed activity in steel and automobiles, improved credit conditions, and the upward trend of building.

Religion and Health Studied by Church

The department of research and education of the Federal Council of Churches is now making a study of the influence and power of religion in the cure of disease.

SUN LIFE HAS BEST YEAR IN ITS HISTORY

Policyholders of the Sun Life Assurance Company and the public at large [illegible]

[illegible] record [illegible]

[illegible] reached the high total of $[illegible] an increase of more than 18 per cent over last year. [illegible]

[illegible] we rejoice at reaching [illegible]

EARNED PROFITS LARGE

[illegible] earnings of the year have risen to [illegible]

[illegible] The sum of $2,[illegible] has been [illegible]

That such results should be achieved in the face of the Stock Exchange panic [illegible] placing, for we are apt to over-estimate the importance of that [illegible] business. We did not see the closing down of factories, wholesale discharges of employes and other symptoms of business distress such as marked the great depressions to which our minds revert.

BUSINESS AS USUAL

"On the [illegible] went on as usual. Men continued to work, children continued to be born, the population continued to grow [illegible] great electric companies [illegible]

[illegible] increase with the passing years. I will apply this test to our own holdings [illegible]

[illegible] them. This is equal to [illegible] per cent per annum on the book value of all our holdings. We have also received rights and stock privileges worth about $17,000,000. And the end is not yet. Even since the [illegible] dividends payable on our stocks have increased about $1,[illegible] and we have received rights with a value even in these markets of $1,100,000.

When investing our funds we look always to the future [illegible] 20 or 30 years hence. Though our large stockholdings we have [illegible]

We believe in the future of Montreal, of New York, of Chicago and [illegible] We believe even more in [illegible] Canada and the United States. What will they be 50 years from now? Does any one doubt [illegible]

Gas Refrigerators for Biggest Houses

New York, Feb. 21.—With the [illegible] of the [illegible] contract by [illegible] Gas Co. of New York [illegible] Electrolux gas refrigerators [illegible] apartment house in Manhattan, Servel, Inc., has now sold its Electrolux gas refrigerator as standard equipment for the largest apartment house in New York, Chicago and Philadelphia.

Large gas utility companies which are Servel's chief retail outlets for Electrolux report a marked upward trend in sales during the past 10 days. They state there is every indication of heavier spring buying this year than last.

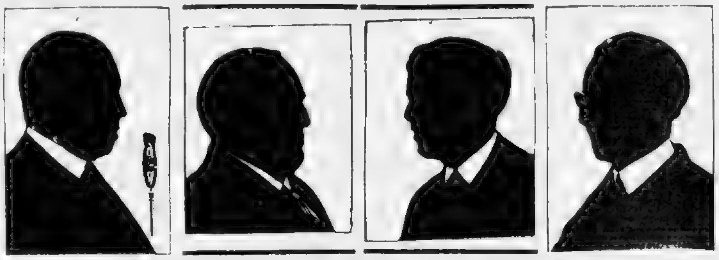
Pick Your Pastor—Well Known 4



As far back as 1750 clergymen had their pictures taken. There was no camera, however, and in its place were artists who made [illegible] in black and white, called silhouettes. These profile pictures were at one time very popular and are today found in antique shops and museums, and serve very well to depict character. As an appropriate feature for Boston's tercentenary year we are to print on the church page each week one or more of these silhouettes, and they will be of our well-known preachers, priests and rabbis. No name will be attached, but if the reader will send in the silhouette with the right name and a return envelope he will receive an artistic copy on good paper.—Church Page Editor.

FLAGS GIVEN TO CHURCH

A special program has been arranged by the Christian Endeavor Society of the Scotch Presbyterian Church for Sunday evening when an American flag and the flag symbolical of the Christian church are to be presented to the church by the society at its regular meeting at 6:30 p. m. An invitation is extended to the people of Greater Boston [illegible] when the pastor [illegible] will speak on "Loyalty."

Do Episcopalians Believe in Unity?

The Rev. George L. Paine, executive secretary of the Greater Boston Federation of Churches, also an Episcopal clergyman, recently wrote to the Church Militant [illegible] letter given here in part.

ARE WE SINCERE?

To the editor of the Church Militant:

[illegible] Protestant ministers [illegible] Boston area [illegible] Federation of Churches. Of the about 90 [illegible] Episcopalians [illegible] interdenominational [illegible]

The [illegible] conferences have been [illegible] attended by a thousand persons [illegible] one of the meetings in St. Louis the other day. We had one thousand ministers at the morning session to which only ministers were invited. There were three Episcopalians present (myself chairman of the meeting) and two others. At the mass meeting at St. Paul's Cathedral in the evening there were four of our Communion present. Does anyone wonder why our brethren sometimes smile at our loud protestation of our belief in church unity?

> The Boston Evening American has established an open forum—or letter department—in which readers are welcome to set forth their ideas on any vital topic. An especial invitation is now given to the clergymen, as well as laymen and laywomen, to write the forum editor. These communications should be short and to the point. Every effort will be made to give publicity to all, but when too many arrive at once, the best must be chosen.

Stenographer Benefited

"For two years I suffered with irregularities, frequent headaches and general weakness. I tried various medicines but all to no avail. I read about your highly praised medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, gave it a trial and obtained wonderful results from it. I am a stenographer and bookkeeper and I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to other girls who work."—Stella T. Culkosky, 2413 Delaware Street, Gary, Indiana.

AUTOMOTIVE TOPICS

V-16 CADILLACS ON DISPLAY

Boston motorists will be among the first in the country to have the privilege of riding in and driving the new 16-cylinder Cadillac car, the V-16, for Albion L. Danforth, president of the Cadillac Automobile Co. of Boston, has succeeded in securing a shipment of these super-fine cars for his annual Washington's Birthday opening. One V-16 was exhibited at the Boston show and created great interest.

At the holiday opening in the Cadillac building on Commonwealth ave., at Cottage Farm Bridge, Danforth will have several of these cars with special custom coachwork on exhibition in the new car salesroom and will also have others for demonstrating purposes. The 16-cylinder car is the newest development of the year in fine car construction and possesses riding and driving qualities which are a revelation. For the V-16 line the Cadillac Co. has secured magnificent specimens of custom coachwork by Fleetwood.

In addition to the 16-cylinder cars, Danforth will show on the holiday the special Fleetwood and Fisher bodies, on both the V-16 and the eight-cylinder Cadillac and on the eight-cylinder LaSalle chassis, which will be featured at the Boston Automobile Salon, to be held at the Copley-Plaza ballroom the first week in March. There will be a complete exhibition of standard Cadillac and LaSalle models and, in the huge used car showroom, an elaborate presentation of Cadillacs, LaSalles and other cars which have been taken in trade on new models.

The entire Cadillac building, including the service station and modern shop, will be open for inspection, and visitors will be invited to drive through the building using the ramp that connects all floors. In this way they can see without exertion the immense stock room, where parts for all models are carried, the department devoted to body work, the shop with its complete equipment of up-to-date machinery and the numerous other sections devoted to the service of Cadillac and LaSalle cars. A special exhibit of automobile radio installations will be made and there will be music and refreshments. Twenty thousand invitations for the opening have been issued.

Steeplejack at Work Big Attraction in Boston

While an interested audience watched from the streets below, Arthur A. Martin, better known as "Marty the Steeplejack," painted the flagpole surmounting the cone-shaped dome on the Boston Grain and Flour Exchange building at Milk and India sts.

Oblivious of the craned necks of the crowd, Marty worked on his perilous perch, nearly 200 feet above the sidewalk, and in two hours had finished the task. This included the gilding of the ball on the pole, and giving the 60-foot pole itself a glistening coat of white.

HUDSON-ESSEX PLAN BIG SHOW

"We expect several hundred people to visit our salesroom at 652 Beacon st. tomorrow," says C. L. Nutter, general manager of the Henley-Kimball Co. "We will have on display several special Hudson and Essex show cars, finished in most attractive color combinations, with upholstery and hardware to harmonize.

"Hudson's Great Eight Sunsedan, a new body style by Hudson, is attracting considerable attention as a convertible five-passenger car. This type is also available on the Essex Challenger chassis.

"Both the Hudson and the Essex have many mechanical features which will be of interest to every car owner. Demonstrators will be at the disposal of the public throughout the day.

"These special show cars will be available for delivery beginning Monday. Any of these cars may be purchased from the floor and the car selected will be delivered.

LINCOLN CAR IN MAKING FILMED

"The Lincoln division of the Ford Motor Co. have a display which is both beautiful and unique," said A. H. Crowley, general manager of the Boston Lincoln division. He tells of plans for the "opera house" program tomorrow.

"In addition to an attractive line of cars, featuring bodies by Judkins, Derham, Dietrich, LeBaron and Willoughby, an example of the early coach builders' craft is being shown in the form of a stage coach, in which George Washington is reputed to have ridden at the time he took command of the Colonial troops in Cambridge.

"Arrangements have also been made to show at various times through the day a motion picture the coming of the automobile at the Lincoln plant in Detroit. This picture is most interesting and educational, and has been pronounced the best of its kind by those who have seen it."

OPEN HOUSE FOR AUTO DEALERS

Thousands will take advantage of the holiday tomorrow to inspect the charm of the newest products of motordom. All the automobile dealers of Greater Boston will hold open house.

Most of the salesrooms will be open from early in the forenoon until late evening, and in many cases there will be music and refreshments and souvenirs for visitors to "automobile row."

The custom of having open house on Washington's Birthday is an old one in Boston, dating back to bicycle days, and annually more and more thousands who may have missed the auto show or wish to follow up their observations there take this opportunity of keeping up with developments.

16-CYLINDER CARS

The new cars that tomorrow's throngs will see present many mechanical improvements and changes in general design. In almost every unit of the cars and in almost every make changes have been made.

Among the leading attractions will be the first 16-cylinder cars and the new front wheel drive passenger cars. It has been years since the industry has seen such developments as have taken place in the last 12 months.

Visitors to the showrooms will also be impressed with changes in body design and coloring. It is now several years since manufacturers saw that buyers wanted automobiles to please the eye as well as satisfy the desire to go somewhere. Gradually they have strived to meet this demand and the 1930 cars show interesting attainments in this respect.

ONE BEAUTIFUL UNIT

The automobile of 1930 is a unit, in design and color, from end to end. Once a car looked as if chassis and body had been planned along dissimilar lines, and the two just tacked together, but now they are seen to be made for each other. Even fenders are included in the color scheme.

All the dealers will have their entire staffs on hand to explain the features of the latest models and assist in making the occasion one of entertainment and instruction. In general the intown show rooms will be open at 9 o'clock and will not close until 10 p. m., and with the exceptional weather they are prepared to handle the biggest crowd ever on this "spring opening" of the motor season.

Russell Howard at Symphony

Russell Howard, Boston's own joy boy, again tops the cabaret bill at the Symphony Restaurant, 252 Huntington ave., with many other acts, including Henry and Beryle, feature dancers, and Ashley and Dare, acrobatic and novelty dancers.

Russell Howard

Chin D. Young, proprietor and manager, announces a big celebration tonight and Washington's Birthday, Saturday.

Gordon Graham, crooning master of ceremonies and radio artist, is still going over big. Perley Stevens and his orchestra will play for the dancing.

Double Header Bill Yen Ho Feature

Another double-header will be featured at the Yen Ho Restaurant, at 256 Tremont st. tonight, in the form of Carnival Night, which includes many novelties, and the usual holiday eve celebration.

Frankie Maynard

The Yen Ho offers a bill of entertainment which includes many of Boston's leading night club performers. A special holiday dinner will be served all day, and Frankie Maynard and his New York night club orchestra will furnish dance music between courses. Four floor shows will be presented on Friday, at 1:30, 6:15, 9:30 and 11:15, and there will be dancing until 2 a. m.

Big Celebration Tonight at Mah Jong

Tonight and Washington's Birthday will be celebrated royally, Winton D. Bee, manager of the Mah Jong, underground American & Chinese restaurant, announces.

Sam Bittel

An extra fine bill of entertainment has been planned. Sam Bittel and his orchestra will arrange a suitable dance program. The show will be headed by Ann Peters, mistress of ceremonies.

Holiday Program Tonight at Oasis

Noon day lunch has proved a great success at the Oasis restaurant, Boston's newest American and Chinese restaurant, at 46 Winchester st., in the film district. Much of this success can be credited to Steve Hung, manager.

Steve says that he will stage a celebration tonight and Saturday that will not be forgotten for some time. A number of extra acts will be presented. Vin Vincent and his orchestra will furnish dance music until 2 a. m.

Special Holiday Dinner at Lun Ting

A special seven-course holiday dinner will be served all day tomorrow at the Lun Ting restaurant in Scollay sq. This restaurant is handy to the Boston Garden and North Station.

The Lun Ting has built up a reputation for its excellent food and the many varieties offered in the popular priced noon day luncheon.

LEGAL NOTICES LEGAL NOTICES

IN COMPLIANCE WITH THE PROVISIONS AS STATED IN ARTICLE FOURTEENTH OF THE WILL OF THE LATE GEORGE ROBERT WHITE—VIZ:

ARTICLE FOURTEENTH: Whereas my sister Mary E. Sullivan has died, and I have otherwise provided for my sister Harriet J. Bradbury, I do now carry out by immediate gift my public charitable purpose which in previous wills I (7) had provided for in remainder, and I do now give all the rest and residue of my property of every nature to the City of Boston, the same to be held as a permanent charitable trust fund to be known as the George Robert White Fund, and the net income only to be used for creating works of public utility and beauty, for the use and enjoyment of the inhabitants of the City of Boston. It is my intention that no part of said income, however, shall be used for a religious, political, educational or any purpose which it shall be the duty of the City in the ordinary course of events to provide.

The control and management of said Fund and the disbursement of the income shall be in the hands of a board of five trustees to consist of the Mayor, who shall be its chairman, the President of the City Council, the City Auditor, the President of the Chamber of Commerce and the President of the Bar Association of the City of Boston. If by the reason of the abolition of any one or more of these offices or the declination or resignation of any one or more of the persons holding them for the time being a vacancy or vacancies shall occur, I direct that such vacancies shall be filled by the remaining members of the board, by the election of the persons whose respective positions and duties shall in the opinion of the board most nearly correspond therewith. As this is a public charitable gift to the City of Boston, it is my intention that the (8) City shall at all times be officially represented by a majority of the board of trustees charged with its management.

The business of the Fund shall be transacted through the regular departments of the City, viz. the Treasurer, Auditor, Corporation Counsel, etc., and a suitable office or offices for the use of the trustees shall be provided for them by the City in the City Hall or elsewhere, in which shall be kept all books and records of every nature relating to the management of the Fund, properly indexed and readily accessible during business hours for the reasonable inspection of citizens, so that all who so desire may have full knowledge of the conduct of the business of the Fund. I direct that said income shall not be anticipated or pledged beyond the amount actually in hand, but it may be accumulated for any purpose within the scope of the gift, and successive accumulations may be applied to the same object. Any work or works established from the Fund may be improved, extended, enlarged or added to from time to time, but the current expense of their care and maintenance shall be borne by the City. I also direct that no part of said income shall be commingled with other funds or applied on joint undertakings, but that each work established under this gift shall be separate and distinct, and shall always bear in a conspicuous place a suitable inscription identifying (9) it as erected or established from said George Robert White Fund. If for any reason the principal of said Fund shall at any time become impaired, the income shall be allowed to accumulate until such impairment shall have been made good.

Inasmuch as I believe an enlightened public opinion to be the most effective safeguard for the preservation and maintenance of such a charitable fund and the best guide to its effective use, I direct that at least once a year the trustees shall cause to be published in most if not all of the daily newspapers of general circulation in Boston a full and comprehensive report, duly audited, and signed and sworn to by at least three of their number, setting forth the receipts, disbursements and investments of the Fund and a copy of this fourteenth article of my will establishing it.

In order to diminish the chance of hasty or unconsidered action in the expenditure of income, I believe that no substantial expenditure should be made for any purpose until it shall have been under consideration by the trustees for at least three months.

As it is probable that said Fund will consist in greater part of real estate centrally situated in the City of Boston which is reasonably sure to increase in value, I urgently recommend that such real estate be not sold for a period of at least one hundred (100) years, that leases of the same (10) shall be subject to revaluations at a range of rentals every ten (10) years and where necessary shall provide for rebuilding by the lessee, that the real estate shall not be mortgaged, and the buildings thereon shall be kept fully insured.

If any clause or provision of the foregoing charitable gift [illegible] be deemed to be invalid in law, it shall not invalidate the gift as a whole, but shall so far as possible be construed as an expression of my general intent.

While I think that Boston has now few, if any, superiors in beauty and in the many privileges it affords to its citizens, yet I believe it has greater possibilities for the future, and there are several public blessings among those afforded by other cities—such as a zoological garden and handsome buildings therefor, an aquarium, a forum of substantial proportions for public gatherings, etc.—which we do not possess. It is with such things as these in mind that I have established the foregoing trust fund.

I can conceive that pressure might be brought to bear to use the income of this Fund for small and comparatively unimportant needs, which might be equally deserving and technically within the general scope of the Trust as heretofore expressed. A use of it for such purposes to any substantial extent would be contrary to my intention, which is that its income, accumulated if need be for a time long enough to make it sufficient, should (11) be used only for important civic improvements.

I suggest that printed copies, in convenient pamphlet form, of this the fourteenth article of my will be kept at the office of the trustees of the Fund for free distribution to citizens of Boston.

I request that the trustees named in this article shall annually designate one of their number who shall visit and inspect my lot in Forest Hills Cemetery in the months of April and September of each year and report to the board any neglect or failure to comply with the provisions of the contract of perpetual care, as well as Article First of this my will, in regard to the care of said lot, and it shall be the duty of said trustees to see that such neglect or lack of care be remedied without delay.

THE TRUSTEES OF THE GEORGE ROBERT WHITE FUND HEREWITH SUBMIT THE EIGHTH REPORT OF THE FUND FOR THE YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31, 1929.

WILLIAM G. LYNCH, President of the City Council

RUPERT S. CARVEN, City Auditor

HENRY I. HARRIMAN, President of the Chamber of Commerce

HERBERT PARKER, President of the Bar Association of the City of Boston.

TRUSTEES OF THE GEORGE ROBERT WHITE FUND.

Then personally appeared the above named Trustees who made oath to the foregoing statement being true to the best of their knowledge and belief.

Boston, February 20th, 1930.

PAUL H. KEATING, Notary Public.

AUDITOR'S CERTIFICATE

We have audited the books and accounts of the George Robert White Fund for the year ending December 31, 1929, and hereby certify that—in our opinion—the income due in that year has been accounted for and the expenses paid have been duly authorized and approved; that the investments on December 31, 1929, were satisfactorily accounted for; and that Principal and Income for 1929 are properly summarized in the foregoing account.

PATTERSON, TEELE & DENNIS.

Boston, February 13th, 1930.

STATEMENT

In the expenditure of the Net Income of the Fund—"for creating works of public utility and beauty"—the Trustees have adopted a policy of establishing HEALTH UNITS in various sections of the City, in the hope of thus being able—by proper instruction—to better the living and health conditions of the communities in the congested districts. Conferences have been held with the various health agencies and welfare workers of the City in an endeavor to have the policy of the Trustees made beneficial and constructive and also to insure the establishment of the Health Units in such locations as will best serve "for the use and enjoyment of the inhabitants of the City of Boston."

In conformity therewith, the first Health Unit was established at North Margin Street and Baldwin Place in the North End, having been transferred—on its completion, November 1, 1924—to the Health Department of the City—for its care and maintenance—in accordance with the terms of the will of the late George Robert White.

The second Health Unit was established at Paris and Emmons Streets in East Boston and has been in operation—under the Health Department of the City—since August 4, 1924.

The third Health Unit was established at Dorchester, West Fourth and Gold Streets, in South Boston, and has been in operation since June 25, 1927.

The fourth Health Unit has been established at Blue Hill Avenue, Savin and Maywood Streets in Roxbury, having been dedicated on September 24, 1929, and in operation from that date.

The fifth Health Unit has been established at High, Elm and Summer Streets in Charlestown, having been dedicated on November 22, 1929, and in operation from that date.

The Health Unit buildings have varied in size from (the first) 7200 square feet to (the fifth) 6460 square feet and have been erected on lots of land varying in area from 12,570 square feet to 19,230 square feet; thus providing Health Units—with accommodations and equipment fully adequate to the requirements of the communities they serve—and also ample playgrounds for use in connection therewith.

The sixth Health Unit is to be established at Blossom and Parkman Streets—in the West End; the building, measuring about 106'x60', is being erected on a lot of land having an area of 13,252 square feet. It is the hope of the Trustees to have the building completed and the Health Unit in operation in September of the present year.

Hon. Malcolm E. Nichols—Mayor—served as Trustee to Jan. 6, 1930.

Timothy F. Donovan—President of the City Council—served as Trustee to January 6, 1930.

Thomas W. Proctor—President of the Bar Association of the City of Boston—served as Trustee to October 5, 1929.

GEORGE E. PHELAN, Manager.

Joseph E. Warner

The Garrett Case His Opportunity

THE investigation of the Garrett case which he is directed to make by legislative order presents the Republican Attorney General of Massachusetts with what may be properly described as the chance of a lifetime.

Joseph E. Warner stands face to face with the opportunity to perform a three-fold service: for the people of this community, for himself and for the political party to which he owes allegiance.

UNTIL THE PRESENT HOUR THAT CHANCE OR OPPORTUNITY WAS THE POSSESSION OF THE DEMOCRATIC DISTRICT ATTORNEY OF SUFFOLK.

There is, so far as we have discovered, no hostility to the pensioned police officer Garrett on the part of the people of Boston. No one would persecute, or "hound" him. All that the citizens of Boston want is the TRUTH.

Except as to what he may signify, indeed, Mr. Garrett is not of great consequence. Reputable surgeons say he is in bad shape, physically. We do not question their judgment. But ARE his injuries the result of an automobile accident sustained in the course of police duty in 1926, or may they be in part the result of his toss from a racing sulky last Summer?

SOME PERTINENT QUESTIONS

One of the members of the State Senate has testified at the State House that the race horse Garrett was driving is or was the property of a "notorious bootlegger." Is THAT a fact? The Herald has reported that after his original examination for pension purposes Garrett successfully passed an examination for life insurance. If that is true does it MEAN anything?

A REAL investigation will reveal WHY Garrett was relieved of his plainclothes position at the head of a liquor squad: WHY he resented that demotion, if it was one; what he SAID about the transfer at the time; WHY he failed to report at the Joy Street Station for patrol duty in uniform; and whence came the $80,000 or more concerning which the Garretts have had trouble with the Income Tax bureau of the Department of Internal Revenue.

IF Mr. Warner will bring out the facts—whatever they may show—he will be entitled to public acclaim.

At the same time, he will make the name of Warner to ring again throughout the Commonwealth and cause Republicans to regret the failure of their party in 1920 to nominate him for lieutenant-governor.

Ten years ago, you will remember, Joseph E. Warner was looked upon as "on his way to the Governorship."

AN INTERRUPTED CAREER

At the age of 36 he was serving his second term as Speaker of the House of Representatives. He had been a member of EIGHT Legislatures.

Graduate of Harvard College and the Harvard Law School, he had made a place for himself at the Bar. Taunton called him the "coming man." Republicans described him as "in line."

And then came Alvan Fuller.

Challenging the young Speaker's right of succession, Mr. Fuller staged a battle of which the feature most likely to be remembered had to do with the alleged appearance, before Warner-appointed committees, of one whom Mr. Fuller is said to have described as "Warner's law partner."

Speaker Warner on his own behalf replied that he HAD no law partner, acknowledged that the attorney who shared offices with him had appeared before one Warner-made committee and said that in that single instance the attorney in question had met with defeat.

The red-hot controversy which followed had its effect, nevertheless, in the primaries. Fuller was nominated and took HIS place "in line for the governorship." Warner, gradually at first, faded from view, only to appear after several years as one of the chosen assistants of Attorney-General Reading.

WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN

Following the scandal of the Decimo Club, Mr. Warner was elected by the Legislature to fill out Reading's uncompleted term. A rival candidate was Representative Henry L. Shattuck. In the Republican caucus, Mr. Shattuck received 58 votes, Mr. Warner 92. The vote was said to have been intended as a "slap at Fuller," at that time a Governor more or less constantly at odds with his Legislature.

Finally, in the State election of 1928, Attorney-General Warner was elected to his high office by the people.

He is eight or ten years behind schedule, by which we mean that if Alvan T. Fuller had not thrown an obstruction into the natural current of politics it is more than likely that Joseph E. Warner would be "former Governor" Warner—and perhaps the one best bet of his party for the United States Senate.

Well?

Well, here he is, face to face once more with Opportunity.

How will he MEET it?

What will he DO with it?

Two ways are open to him.

ONE way is the frank way, the brave way, the fearless way; cards on the table, everything in the open, a DILIGENT inquiry into EVERY phase of the Garrett "question."

The OTHER way is the POLITICIANS' way, the soft pedal or "hush! hush!" way.

IF HE WILL!

This newspaper knows no more about the Garrett case than has appeared from time to time in the public prints. We BELIEVE, with the members of the Legislature and the public generally, that there are the best of reasons for the pending inquiry. The Garrett case—and we do not refer so much to the officer himself as to the acts and circumstances which have surrounded his demotion, his talk of resigning, his vacation, his horse-racing, his alleged associations AND the bankroll—seems to us to have the appearance of a public sore, which may be removed by healing process or which may demand a major operation.

That Joseph E. Warner is fitted for the task before him, fitted by education, fitted by training, fitted by experience, will not be denied.

IS he free?

If he is, the power is in his hands to make of this police scandal such a revelation of local inadequacy, or inertness, as may be of incalculable value to Mr. Warner's party in one of the most important elections in Massachusetts history.

The BAER Facts

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Weekly News Reel

BERLIN: German bootlegger is fined $750,000. He could have saved money in Chicago.

Florida: President Hoover catches big fish while Vice-President Curtis is wasting his time working.

Hollywood: Jim Tully puts the slug on John Gilbert in a fight that will not be made into a picture.

Washington: Case against man with pint flask collapses when jury calls for more evidence.

New York: Peggy Hopkins spoils everything by sending us copy of her new book just when we were hoping she would get better.

Brooklyn: Still explodes and wrecks schoolhouse. New way of getting half-holiday.

Philadelphia: Connie Mack gets $10,000 Bok prize for most outstanding services to city. He should give $3000 of that to Mickey Cochrane.

Paris: All European nations are hurriedly building cruisers in order to be ready for the next reduction parley.

Washington: Prominent citizens who demand repeal of prohibition are foolish to call attention to it.

New Haven: Fortunate junk dealer lands contract to shake out Yale raccoon coats in the spring.

Chicago: City art gallery is enriched and beautified by additional collection of one thousand finger prints.

Florida: Jimmy Walker, Al Smith and Grover Whalen are all down here. The State is still Republican.

Monaco: An American tourist touched the wrong number on a roulette wheel in Monte Carlo and was electrocuted.

Cairo: Sheiks resting after their wives and mothers have worked hard all day.

Havana: American tourists chinning themselves on old fashioned mahogany bar. It's either that or Sir Oliver Lodge calling a convention of his ghost pals.

H. G. Wells Writes on "The Science of Life"

In Collaboration With

Prof. Julian Huxley and Geo. P. Wells

THE definitive characteristic of this class of seed-plants is that the seeds are not enclosed in special ovaries, but sit exposed at the bases of the scales: for this reason they are called gymnosperms, which means "naked-seeded."

H. G. Wells

In the second class the seeds are housed in ovaries, and the members of the group are therefore called angiosperms, which means "with seeds in containers."

The class includes nearly all of the herbs and trees with which the reader is familiar.

They belong to the contemporary world.

There are no phanerograms in the most ancient rocks: gymnosperms appear in association with reptiles; and the angiosperms, flower and grass and leaf-shedding tree, only become dominant as the mammal and bird become prevalent in the world.

Sec. 5—Ferns and Mosses.

WE turn now to plants that do not possess flowers, and do not distribute themselves by means of those elaborate and sexually-produced structures we call seeds.

The reader will be familiar with the appearance of one or two kinds of fern, but he or she has probably only met the comparatively unassuming members of the group that inhabit temperate countries.

For the fern attain their fullest luxuriance in tropical climates. In Central America the common bracken fern towers to double the height of a man, and there are species peculiar to the tropics that grow like trees, with erect cylindrical stems 60 feet or more in height, bearing crowns of spreading fronds.

The group is large and varied; it includes over three thousand species, ranging in size from these tree-ferns to the minute filmy ferns, hardly larger than mosses.

Instead of bearing flowers and seeds, ferns reproduce themselves by means of spores. A spore is a tiny particle of living substance, enclosed in most instances in a more or less resistant shell, and capable of growing directly into a plant without any sort of fertilizing process.

It is an airasexual production. Fern-spores are produced by proliferation of cells in the pale brown areas that form such conspicuous patternings of circles or stripes on the lower sides of the fronds of most ferns.

The spores are very small and light; indeed they are single cells, and when they are ripe they escape and are blown about, often for considerable distances, by the wind.

If a spore drops on suitable soil it germinates and begins to grow, but it does not develop into a new fern. It grows into a structure called a prothallus, which, instead of bearing conspicuous erect fronds, is, in most cases, a flat leaf-like plate of green tissue, less than an inch across, and sending a few tiny roots into the soil.

This simple object is not a young fern—indeed, it is not a young thing at all, for it is sexually mature, it reproduces, and dies without further development. It is a generation in itself.

Scattered over its under surface there are tiny reproductive organs of two kinds, male and female. The female organs are shaped like long-necked flasks, waiting in the belly of each flask is a single egg-cell.

The male organs are globular, and consist of masses of tissue that is proliferating and giving rise to the male gametes. Now the male gametes are not passive, like pollen-cells, but they swim actively like spermatozoa.

They have little bodies, shaped like a corkscrew and with a tuft of lashing tails at one end; at the other they usually carry hollow, bladder-like structures which may come off and be left behind without in any way disconcerting the little swimmers.

These spermatozoa make their way through the moisture that usually collects under the prothallus towards the female organs, and they pass down the necks of the flask to fertilize the waiting egg-cells.

And this is more like animal reproduction than anything we have hitherto related of plants. As the result of fertilization the egg-cells begin to grow, and it develops into a fern-plant like the one we started from.

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

Beware the fury of a patient man. —Dryden.

Let a fool hold his tongue and he will pass for a sage. —Syrus

The man that blushes is not quite a brute. —Young.

Every man's heart and conscience doth in good or evil, even secretly committed, and known to none but itself, either like or disallow itself. —Hooker.

Union gives strength to the humble. —Syrus.

Employment, air, and hardships, prevent melancholy. —Johnson.

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

MANY a gay Lothario remains single because he can't be a rich girl's darling—and he won't be a poor girl's cash-register.

You can always tell, when a man has been on a particularly wild whoopee party, by the austere virtue of his pronouncements regarding modern women next morning.

Let your heart be your guide, in selecting a husband or wife—but for heaven's sake use your brains as a "brake" occasionally.

Many a man has succeeded in turning a fourth-rate stenographer into a first-class cook, merely by offering her a wedding ring.

Marriage is not a "lottery," but a game which requires more science than chess, more concentration than bridge, more skill than polo, more endurance than golf, and more nerve than poker.

The average man never can quite remember the exact date when home ceased to be a place to which he returned for comfort and pleasure and became a place where he "reported for duty."

Many a man who could not be moved an inch by a brilliant woman's arguments, or a wise woman's pleadings, can be swayed like a feather by a silly woman's tears.

"Bluffing," in games like poker or love, is not exactly cheating; it is merely looking sweetly inscrutable and allowing your opponent's imagination to run riot.

Love, like a balloon, is kept up mostly by hot air.

Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

WHAT are our needs, your needs and mine,
To shape Earth nearer ways divine,
To make the hours sing and shine?

What are our needs. Men long have thought
The treasures which are sold and bought
Worth all, and so for these have sought.

Some strive for glory, honored name,
For fleeting joy of Earth's acclaim,
And some for any phase of fame.

And yet, beyond all glittering dowers,
What needs, in very truth, are ours?
We need the sun, the sky, the flowers!

We need gay childhood's rippling laugh,
We need love's brimming glass to quaff;
The rest is dross, the rest is chaff!

Swinging the Propeller

This Picture Will Amuse Fliers of the Future

(Copyright, 1930)

TEACHING OXFORD STUDENTS TO START A PLANE

AT Oxford University, young English undergraduates have formed an Air Squadron. The government, anxious for many capable pilots, supplies machines and instructors.

Here, some young Englishmen, directed by a professional flier, are learning to start the propeller of an airplane.

Starting a plane is DANGEROUS. Once in motion, the propeller whirls with frightful speed, and if you make a false step after starting it, as many have learned to their cost, it is apt to strike and kill you.

Here there are three boys holding hands, one of them holding the hand of the man about to start the powerful airplane engine.

They all pull together toward the left, and even should the man starting the propeller stumble or make any other mistake, the two men holding him will pull him out of danger in spite of himself.

This interesting form of co-operation for safety will seem amusing to fliers of the future.

Electric starters taking the place of hand starting, today's methods and today's airplanes will be as much out of date as the funny little four-wheeled "gas buggy" that Henry Ford was driving less than thirty years ago, with a "dashboard" such as old horse buggies had, to keep the horse from kicking mud into the driver's face and other remnants of long ago.

All our colleges and universities ought to have air squadrons, encouraged and financed by the government.

Some day this country may find itself obliged to make up for lost time by building thousands of planes in a great hurry.

Then it will want men that know how to fly them, especially young men willing to run risks.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 21—Thoughts while strolling: That quick step of pedestrians in the middle of the street when a cop blows his whistle. Why do Italians own all corner fruit stands? The former Joan Sawyer. Who danced with Valentino. The soft loveliness to the chime of far away bells.

John La Gatta, the artist. And Harry Kemp, the poet. A quiet dignity about a linen store. Richard Whitney who cried "205 for steel!" And was hailed as Wall Street's savior in the slump. All the bootblacks have radios. Six kittens trailing a mother cat. And traffic stops.

Inez Haynes Irwin, a Rio Janeiro, Brazil, girl, who made good in the city. Tough mugs who photograph for tabloids. And always get the photos, too. Those windows flooded in red, green and yellow changing lights. And the shoe shop with blue shutters and trailing vines.

Still more street bands. The sudden giddiness when you plunge into the vaulted dome of Grand Central from the street. Everybody for some reason approaches a train caller humbly. The wealthiest travelers carry the least baggage. Tempting displays of magazines and bright-jacketed books.

Ladies who look about before stepping on coin-in-the-slot weighing machines. Redcaps talking of majoring in this and that. Wonder if four out of five still have it? The fellow who peddles horsehair belts—made in prisons. And the fly-blown stationery store with the ostrich egg in the window.

School children don't seem to carry books home any more. William H. Todd, the Brooklyn ship builder. Flowers blooming in the crannied walls of an abandoned brewery. The East Side children's only winter game—sidewalk hop scotch. Why are so many waiters Swiss? Lewis Brander.

Staring babies in perambulators. Marketing mothers in aprons and shawls. Bargaining for pennies. But with good humor. The blue lights in the gloomy undertaking parlors. And the black derbied attendants with black ties. The odor of myrrh. And squawking radios.

Somehow—and here I go again—I've had my fill of all-night stay-outs who drop in the next morning with a satchel under each eye and feeling like the last ten minutes of a misspent life just to tell you what a big night they had.

There is always at least one cut-up at such parties who is described the next day as "a scream." With very few exceptions, I have never seen a funny drunk at a party—unless you call—and please don't—wearing a woman's hat funny.

Small specialty shops now feature "clerks with a personality." These are salesmen and saleswomen who have distinct followings. When they go from one shop to another they take customers with them. In a theater program ad. of one shop I notice a line: "Ask for Mr. David." Several billboards herald: "Mr. Soandso, Broadway's favorite clerk, now greets you at Blank's."

A number of these energetic clerks are willing to work for a guarantee of a very small sum—often $10 to $15 a week. But they are hustlers, and with commissions often realize from $75 to $100 a week. They send out personal letters and use the telephone to tell of the arrival of special articles.
